NATO Summit Meet Okayed

Atlantic Nations Vote Go-Ahead On Conference Even If Ike Is Unable To Attend

PARIS (AP) — NATO nations decided Thursday to go ahead with next month's summit meeting even if the ailing President Eisenhower cannot attend.

A communique from NATO's Permanent Council said it "learned with regret that President Eisenhower will be prevented from attending the NATO council meeting in December."

The White House, however, said Eisenhower's recovery from a slight stroke has been so rapid that he may yet go to Paris.

The NATO Council seemed to take it for granted that Vice President Nixon will sit in for Eisenhower, saying: "It learned with satisfaction that Vice President Nixon would lead the American delegation."

In Washington, Nixon said only that he would be ready to substitute for Eisenhower. He told a newsman Eisenhower will decide who makes up the U.S. delegation.

Members of the council did not mask their concern that Eisenhower, one of the principal builders of the alliance's military strength, might not be present.

But they were determined to go ahead with the plans for the greatest show of western solidarity since NATO was formed.

No Changes

A spokesman said that "no plans at all will be changed."

It took less than a quarter of an hour for the permanent representatives to make the decision. Informal talks in the past 48 hours had left no doubt of their reaction.

Some reserve was expressed that the talks might lose some of their propaganda effect if Eisenhower is absent. But these objections were not pressed when it came time for a vote.

The absence of Eisenhower would rob the Dec. 16-18 sessions of some of their luster. But the problems facing the West in the Sputnik era of proved Russian scientific advances are urgent and NATO members are determined they must be tackled at once.

The discussion of the heads of governments of the 15 NATO nations stemmed from the talks in Washington between Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain. After these conversations, an informal call went out for the Premiers to sit down together to work out means of sharing their manpower and technical resources to meet the Russian threat.

Military Brass

On the U.S.. delegation will be a high-level team of civilian and military brass. NATO sources said Secretary of State Dulles, Defense Secretary McElroy, Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson and the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Gen. Nathan Twining, will present the U.S. views. In all, more than 30 American officials are expected to come from Washington.

As a sidelight to the NATO meeting, the ministers of the Western European Union (WEU) will meet here Dec. 15 and 16. Participating in the Western European Union are Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

The defense committee of the WEU Assembly met here Thursday morning to discuss ways of helping to speed up the NATO technical program.

A report presented by Pierre-Henri Teitgen of France urged "an inventory of the armaments needs of the countries of the Western European Union, as well as the scientific, energy and industrial resources available to meet these needs."

New Arms

Reports circulated that the United States was anxious to turn over the manufacture and supply of some types of new arms to the European countries. This was understood to apply especially to short and medium range guided missiles and fighter planes.

Already some fighter planes for European use have been manufactured in Europe with U.S. funds under the off-shore procurement program.

This off-shore program has practically come to a halt, however, and no arrangements ever have been made for any building of missiles on a basis of common need. The United States has supplied some tactical missiles.

Parts Of State To Get Snow; Gusts Hit West

Colder temperatures were predicted for Nebraska Friday and snow was expected for western Nebraska and the lower Missouri Valley as winds with gusts up to 42 mph brought light snow and blowing dust to western Nebraska Thursday night.

Scottsbluff reported snow with wind gusts up to 33 mph Thursday evening and Sidney had light snow with gusts up to 42 mph. Chadron reported light snow and Imperial reported blowing dust with gusts up to 37 mph.

Strong northerly winds, falling temperatures and scattered snow squalls that were entering Minnesota and the Dakotas Thursday evening were expected to move into Iowa and the lower Missouri Valley Friday night.

High readings were expected to be in the 30s in the north Friday and 35 to 45 in the south.

East Coast In Reds' A-Reach

Russ Subs Could Launch Missiles At 900 Miles

WASHINGTON (AP) — American intelligence was reported Thursday night to have told investigating senators that Russia now has some submarines able to launch from hundreds of miles away nuclear-headed missiles that could devastate large East Coast cities. The Reds were said to be building more.

Informants said this information was given to the Senate Preparedness subcommittee investigating the missiles program. The senators Wednesday heard Allen Dulles, head of the hush-hush Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), give secret testimony about Russian developments.

After the closed session, some of the senators expressed shock at what they had been told about Soviet military might. But details were not given out.

Sources in a position to know, however, said Thursday night that the committee was told Russia now has a few—perhaps four—submarines capable of firing a missile with a nuclear warhead up to 700 to 900 miles.

80 Square Miles

The intelligence report was said to have estimated a missile from one of the subs could cause disaster over an 80-square-mile area—half of this area destroyed by the nuclear blast itself and half contaminated by radioactivity.

"This means they are practically in a position to wipe out any major city on the eastern seaboard," one informant said. He did not say any of the subs were now at sea in a position to start a missile attack, however.

The Soviets were said to have 450 submarines all told that are capable of being equipped with the missiles. More beyond the four were reported being outfitted. Th 450 total was described as eight times the number of conventional submarines that the Nazis had at the start of World War II.

However U.S. Navy chiefs have said they are able to cope with a large number of enemy subs in case war should break out.

One source said CIA reported the Russian subs could launch their missiles while still submerged.

For Young Indians, Youth Problems And More:

'Juniors' Form Own Tribal Councils

By EARL DYER
Star Staff Writer

WINNEBAGO, Neb. — Youth organizations with a difference.

That's one way to describe two new groups just formed in the state.

They are the junior tribal councils of the Omaha and Winnebago Indian tribes, whose reservations center at Winnebago and Macy in northeast Nebraska.

The Indian tribes themselves changed to a government of elected tribal councils to govern affairs of the tribes in the thirties. Now those tribal councils, so important to the life of the Indian communities, are being referred to as the "senior councils" to distinguish them from the junior groups that are becoming so active.

Recent Start

It was only mid-October when the young people of the Winnebago and Omaha tribes decided to form their own councils, but they are already going full steam—moving so quickly they are surprising the advisors from the University of Nebraska who are working with them.

At Macy, the Omaha Junior Tribal Council headed by George Grant Jr. (his father is senior council vice chairman) has seven members like the senior council, and a complete set of committees to match those of the adult group. Other members are Blanche Robinson, vice chairman; Joan Grant, secretary; Barbar Harlan, Geneva Cayou, Clifford Wolfe Jr., and Charles Phillips.

12 Members

At Winnebago, the Winnebago Junior Tribal Council headed by Lee St. Cyr has 12 members to match the adult group, and a plan of activities that's literally as long as your arm. Others on the council are Betty Blackhawk, vice chairman; Marilyn Harden, secretary; Thomas Harden, treasurer, and Pat Maney, Laura Whitewing, Bucky Pilcher, Ralph Tebo, Jeanne Littlebeaver, Roland Rave, Andrea Paulson and Patti Decora.

The junior councils, formed as a part of the "We Shake Hands" movement in which Plains Indians are trying to improve Indian-non-Indian relationships, found their elders more than glad to let them take over youth problems and more.

So while the men in the "We Shake Hands" project wrestle with a speakers bureau and economic problems and the women work toward a League of Women Voters, the young people are tackling such things as plans for a community building at Macy, recreation programs, intercultural events to improve understanding, and even a program of trips and study to try to translate dreams of the future of the tribes into reality.

Sports, Movies

Some of the activities are like those of youth groups everywhere. The Winnebago group plans sports activities, the Omaha group sponsors the weekly free movies at Macy and sells popcorn and soft drinks to make money for its projects. And together the two groups are planning a Christmas party to which groups of young people from Lincoln and Omaha will be invited.

But there are more meaty projects, too. Here are some examples:

The Omaha group is approaching the plans for the proposed community building—dream of the senior council for some time—in dead seriousness, and sketches and floor plans are likly to be the result when young Grant and his council get together.

Tribe's Dream

St. Cyr and his Winnebago group talk earnestly about the future of their tribe, the dream of consolidating tribal lands to be operated communally by and for the members of the tribe, the possibility of sending Winnebago high school graduates to Agriculture College to learn how to handle such an enterprise, and of plans for a trip to visit a rural communal village in Iowa.

Dreams of the future when the Omaha and Winnebago peoples will rise from their poverty and create a good life for themselves on their reservations make heady fare for a bunch of younsters, but they look forward with serious mien to the day when they'll be the leaders of their tribes. And though they're always quiet and reserved, often shy, these young citizens of the Indian communities of northeast Nebraska show they've got the future firmly in mind—and they show every evidence of getting it firmly in hand, too.

Hi-Y Legislators To Debate Boycott

By HAL HASSELBALCH
Star Staff Writer

Delegates to the Hi-Y Model Legislature in Lincoln this week will debate a bill that bars secondary boycotts and sets stiff penalties for violators.

Officer candidates and committee chairmen who will lead the Hi-Y Model Legislature in a two-day session Friday and Saturday met Thursday night for a training session and supper with the adult sponsors of the program.

Election of officers is the first item on a full agenda Friday morning. William Encell of Omaha, Larry Peters of Hastings and Dick Vanderberg of Scottsbluff will vie for the governor's chair. All are high school seniors.

Runner up in the gubernatorial race will serve as lieutenant governor and the third place man will be chief justice.

Secretary of state will be Dick Kistler of Hastings. John Karrer of Scottsbluff will serve as clerk of the legislature and chaplain will be Judd Wagner of Omaha.

Sergeant-at-arms will be John Kerrey of Lincoln.

All 126 delegates will serve on one of four committees under chairmen Beanie Lawrence of Alliance, Jerry Gale of McCook, Allan Yates of Lincoln or Larry Myers of Omaha.

Bill No. 1 would prohibit any labor organization from engaging in a strike or concerted refusal to do business the effect of which is to hinder others not immediately affected by the strike.

The fine would be $100 for the first offense and not more than $1,000 for succeeding offenses. Each day of the boycott would be a separate offense. In addition all parties involved might be joined in a civil action, under the bill.

Another bill, likely to stimulate heated debate, is a proposal to educate outstanding students in science fields at the expense of the state.

Science would get a further boost from Bill No. 12 which provides for a minimum of three years of science as a requirement for graduation from public high schools.

In all the committees will pass on aboout 15 bills, most of which deal with currently controversial subjects.

Gov. Victor Anderson will address the Model Legislature as soon as the balloting is completed. Following his speech, Chief Justice Robert J. Simmons will announce the election results and swear in all boy officers and legislators.

Inaugural

The Boy Governor will give an inaugural address. All formalities of a real opening session will be observed and then the youths will begin the serious business of being boy law makers.

Friday activities will be wound up by a banquet at the Lincoln YMCA. Guest speaker will be Samuel I. Berek of Fremont who was chairman of the United Nations Day observance in Nebraska for 1957. He has also served as chairman of the Nebraska committee for the United Nations in 1954-55.

Bills will come up for floor debate and passage Saturday afternoon. The yearly experiment in government will end late Saturday afternoon with a closing statement by Maurice A. Hyde of Lincoln.

Hi-Y Unicameral Leaders

Meeting Thursday night to lay the groundwork for the annual Hi-Y Model Legislature which will convene for a two-day session Friday are (left to right) Larry Peters, candidate for governor, Dick Kistler, secretary of state, both of Hastings, Richard Vanderberg, candidate for govnor and John Karrer, clerk of the legislature, both of Scottsbluff. Bill Encell of Omaha, not pictured, is the third candidate for governor. The gubernatorial candidate receiving highest number of votes will serve as governor, second high will be lieutenant governor and third high will be chief justice. (Star Photo)

Good Gain Is Held By Chief Executive

. . . Goes To Church; Paris Trip Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, in an astounding display of recovery from his brain artery blockage of Monday, left the White House Thursday and went to church.

Furthermore, the White House said, he and Mrs. Eisenhower hope to travel up to Gettysburg, Pa., Friday to their farm home.

Eisenhower's doctors will decide later, it was said, whether he will fly over to Paris in a couple of weeks for the North Atlantic Pact meeting.

Does all this mean the 67-year-old President is back to normal, reporters asked in amazement. After all, two sets of doctors had agreed, after he suffered what is commonly called a slight stroke, that he must rest for several weeks and cut down on his activity.

Emphatic "No"

"No," press Secretary James Hagerty replied emphatically, the President is not back to normal. Hagerty added:

"Don't try to rush a complete recovery by the President. That would be an error."

Hagerty said going to church Thursday morning—and he said it was the President's own idea, okayed by his doctor—indicated "just exactly what the doctors have been saying—that his progress has been excellent."

In reply to a specific question, Hagerty said Dr. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal physician, had reported there is no indication that Eisenhower has arterio-sclerosis, or hardening of the arteries.

The press secretary said he was informed that Eisenhower's general arterial condition "has never given any evidence" of hardening of the arteries.

Speech Much Improved

Hagerty also reported a very great recovery from the speech impairment that has been a manifestation of the President's illness.

One result of the bounce-back display put on by the chief executive Thursday could be to further undercut various reports that he might resign and turn the helm of state over to Vice President Nixon.

Nixon himself said Wednesday night that "I have no reason whatever to believe that the President is considering or will consider resigning."

Hagerty said Eisenhower didn't want any big to-do about Thursday's appearance and told him not to announce that he and Mrs. Eisenhower were going to church until after they were on their way.

Why this secrecy, the press chief was asked. He replied:

"The President has always believed that when he goes to church he goes as an individual to worship his God, and not with a flock of reporters and photographers."

He Wears A Hat

Eisenhower wore a blue suit under a heavy blue overcoat. He also had on a light gray hat, although on occasion he shows up hatless at the church door. Mrs. Eisenhower, all smiles, was in a gray suit and wore a fur stole.

They sat in the fifth row of the church, the National Presbyterian, on the center aisle at the left.

The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, Eisenhower's friend as well as his minister, offered a special prayer.

Joins In Singing

The President sat listening intently. He took part in the hymn singing, standing with the rest of the congregation. He appeared much as usual, though perhaps not quite as ruddy of face.

Dr. Elson told reporters that Eisenhower's health and personality seemed to him, when he talked to him after the servies, the same as always. He said the President's manner of speech was the same.

As in most American homes, this was a day for a family gathering at the White House.

There was a 40-pound turkey for the family dining room on the first floor of the White House—and there were four small grandchildren to see to it that it got proper attention.

McElroy Orders Red Tape Snipped

Aides Advised All Roadblocks On Missiles Must Be Ousted

WASHINGTON (INS)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy passed the order Thursday for a Pentagon reorganization designed to cut the red tape afflicting the missile and earth satellite programs.

McElroy's aides were informally advised, according to reliable information, that all roadblocks must be removed from the channels of communication between his office and top rocket experts.

This was the prompt response of the new Pentagon chief to congressional disclosures that in the past urgent missile recommendations have not been brought to the attention of the defense secretary.

McElroy told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee Wednesday that a request two years ago for top priority designation for the earth satellite program never reached the highest levels in the Pentagon and may not have been "forwarded" by some "lower level." He promised to find out what actually happened.

John P. Hagen, director of the Vanguard earth satellite project, testified earlier that the denial of such priority, personally recommended by him, allowed Russia to be first to launch an artificial "moon."

Edwin L. Weisl, counsel for the subcommittee, also brought to McElroy's attention an allegation by Wernher Von Braun, the Army's German-born rocket expert, that "it takes forever to get decisions in the Pentagon."

McElroy gave strong assurances that he would do his utmost to "simplify the inner structure of the Pentagon."

He added: "I may blunt my lance but I'm going to try."

The defense chief also ordered production of both the Jupiter and Thor intermediate range ballistic missiles, but there was some question as to the immediate effect this will have in greatly enlarging the U.S. rocket stockpile.

The Air Force noted that it is "premature" to say when the Thor can be turned out at a higher level than the present two-a-month pace. The Army could only indicate that production of the Jupiter will begin in "a relatively short time."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) insisted America's lag in the missile race must be clearly presented to the people.

He expected the subcommittee to be able to release the "very unpleasant information" provided in secret testimony by Central Intelligence chief Allen W. Dulles.

He said it would "shock any complacency out of various officials and the American public."

Yule Lights Open Season For Shopping

The 1957 Christmas shopping season will be opened officially in Lincoln with the lighting of downtown street decorations Friday evening.

Giant silver and green Christmas tree outlines, reaching 28 feet above the sidewalks, will appear on O Street between 9th and 15th.

Beneath each of the trees will be a Disney character, according to Jerry Hunt and President Samuel E. Haupt of the Lincoln Promotion Council.

"Through the combination of themes, we hope to combine the fun, gaiety, excitement and good cheer of the holiday," Hunt said.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY SAYS:

Nixon Buildup Gets Up Steam

DECEMBER DIGEST REFERS TO 'NOT-TOO-ATTRACTIVE PAST'

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Democratic Party said Thursday the buildup of Vice President Nixon for the White House in 1960 is "on now in full force" and asked: "Does his 20-20 hindsight qualify him as a national leader?"

Nixon was attacked in the December Democratic Digest which accused him of having a "not-too-attractive past" and an ability to change his tune to fit the political climate.

The article continued: "Since Sputnik I, of course, Nixon has been in the Vanguard of those few Republicans who have been yelling that something should be done to bolster the nation's sagging international position.

"But it is fair to ask, where was the Republican 'Paul Revere' back in the years from 1953 to 1957 when Senators Stuart Symington, Henry Jackson and Clinton Anderson, and former assistant secretary of defense, Trevor Gardner, to mention just a few, were warning that this administration was putting economy before defense and that the Russians were pulling ahead in the means to wage a modern war?

Speaks Of Hindsight

"Does his 20-20 hindsight qualify him as a national leader in these fast moving times. And more important, is his judgment based more on political considerations than on deeply held convictions about the national welfare?"

The digest, in another article, accused President Eisenhower of wasting a year. The magazine also claimed that a poll of more than 3,000 Democratic county chairmen indicates Russia's jump to space supremacy "badly damaged" the Republicans' strongest national political issues—foreign policy and national defense.

Family Of 6 Feared Drowned

LIVINGSTON, Mont. (AP)—A family of six was believed drowned Thursday when their car plunged into the icy waters of the Yellowstone River.

Sheriff Fred White Jr. said a car containing Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woods of Big Timber and their children, Betty, 6, Bruce, 4, and twins James and John, 3, went out of control on an icy section of U.S. Highway 10 on the eastern edge of Livingston and plunged into the deep river.

The car was recovered containing the bodies of one twin, not identified, and Bruce. A search continued for other bodies.

The accident apparently occurred about noon (MST), the sheriff reported, but the alarm was not given until a woman passenger on a Northern Pacific passenger train told authorities at the Livingston depot at 12:30 p.m. that she saw a car submerged in the river.

The car plunged into the river near a highway bridge, a short distance from a railway bridge across the water.

The sheriff said Woods, 28, his wife, 26, and their four children were en route to the L. W. Swanson ranch south of Livingston to eat Thanksgiving dinner.

Ord, Norfolk Ask Hearings On Boycotts

Residents of the Norfolk and Ord areas have asked that hearings be held there by the Legislative Council committee studying secondary boycotts, according to Sen. Ray C. Simmons of Fremont, committee chairman.

He said the requests came from persons who want to discuss the impact secondary boycotts have had upon their businesses and upon business activity generally in the two areas.

The committee plans to act on the requests when it resumes hearings next Monday at the Statehouse in Lincoln, Simmons said.

Holt Brings In New Planeload Of Korean Tots

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS)—Harry Holt, Creswell, Ore., farmer brought another plane load of Korean children to Portland Thursday aboard a DC-4 Korean National Airlines transport.

The plane stopped over at the Seattle-Tacoma Airport with its 87 youngsters before continuing the flight to Portland.

Holt met the plane in Seattle to help his two daughters, Wanda and Barbara, make the final leg of the journey to Portland.

Couples waiting to take charge of their adopted children were on hand to greet the plane.

Seven of the children left the plane at Seattle and 39 flew south to make contact with their foster parents in California.

The children are of mixed parentage and most were fathered by U.S. troops in Korea.

Mid-American Indian Cultures Studied At Conference Here

Archaeologists, anthropologists, social historians, ethno-historians and linguists are sharing their individual research work to determine the newest findings in the historic and prehistoric American Indian cultures of mid-America.

More than 100 experts are attending the joint conference sessions of the 15th Plains Conference for Archaeology and the American Indian Ethnohistorical Society being held through Saturday at the University of Nebraska.

The joint conference is one of the largest such meetings aimed at a unified approach to the study of American Indian Culture.

Featured speaker Friday will be Dr. James C. Olson, chairman of the University of Nebraska department of history, who will address the delegates from a dozen states and Canada at the evening banquet session.

Workshop sessions which began Thursday afternoon feature short talks on recent research by the individual scientists. A major topic at the joint Friday afternoon meetings will be nine reports on the Arikara culture of South Dakota and Nebraska.

Plains Conference Chairman Wesley Hurt of Vermillion, S.D., explained that the groups are coordinating research gathered by the experts in the various fields. New officers of the Plains Conference will be elected at a Friday morning business meeting.

AIES President David Baerreis explained that the society's first Lincoln meeting this year was aimed at securing a broader range of interest in the Indian culture research. AIES elections will be held Friday afternoon at the State Historical Society building.

Child Killed, 11 Injured In Iowa Crash

BRIDGEWATER, Ia. (AP)—A 10-months old baby girl was killed and 11 other persons were injured Thursday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Highways 92 and 189 just north of this Adair County town.

The baby was Elaine Marie Sorenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sorenson of Prescott. Also in the Sorenson car besides the parents were three other Sorenson children, Janet, Max and Rex.

In the second car were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schenck of Clarinda, and their four children, Terry, Randy, Curtis and Leslie.

Authorities reported that none of the injured were hurt seriously and all were released after treatment except the Sorenson parents who were taken to a Greenfield hospital.

State Laws Require Study In Only 2 Fields, American Citizenship, Character Building

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The continuing controversy over the importance of education in science and what American schools should do to emphasize study in this field gives reason for a look at the study requirements in Nebraska schools.

State laws on compulsory education require only that courses of instruction must be given in American citizenship and character education to the pupils in any public, private, parochial or denominational school in Nebraska.

The statutes do provide, however, that the Commissioner of Education shall be charged with providing a feasible elementary course of study, adapted to rural school conditions, keeping in view a well-rounded education for each child.

Small, Rural Schools

State Commissioner of Education Freeman Decker said rural schools and schools in smaller towns must follow the course of study outlined by the State Department of Education.

School boards and boards of education in the larger towns and cities establish their own course of study, with the consent and advice of the Education Department, he said.

Under law, the minimum course of study for the first eight grades in common schools shall provide instruction in these fields:

English, including reading; language; spelling; penmanship; social studies, including history; civics and geography; science, including health and agriculture; arithmetic, and fine arts, including music and art.

Courses Suggested

Decker said the subjects and activities for Nebraska's high school program suggested by the Department of Education include these courses for each of the four years:

Ninth Grade: English I, world geography, general science, mathematics I, physical education-health-safety, fine arts and practical arts, with typing I as an elective.

Tenth Grade: English II, world history, biology, mathematics II, physical education-health-safety, fine arts and practical arts, with electives in typing I, driver education, agriculture and home-making.

Eleventh Grade: English III, American History, Physical Science, Mathematics II or III, with electives in physical education-health-safety, fine arts, industrial arts, typing I, shorthand I, general business, foreign language, agriculture and homemaking.

Twelfth Grade: English IV, American Problems and Physical Science, with electives in physical education-health-safety, fine arts, industrial arts, office practice, shorthand I, general business, foreign language, agriculture and homemaking.

Science Recommended

Decker said earlier this week that the Department of Education has been, and still is, very clear in its recommendations for science instruction in elementary and secondary schools.

The Department has continually recommended that science instruction be started at the kindergarten level and carried on with ever-deepening and more mature approach at each succeeding grade level.

"We have not gone further than this," Decker said, "partly because we have neither the personnel nor money, and because we already are called dictators or czars."

He said the department does have courses of study prepared for all subjects in all of the elementary grades, and that it will prepare more courses at the high school level as personnel and money become available.

Citing again the oft-repeated charges that the Department of Education is made up of dictators, Decker said, "And yet if we don't make strong recommendations, people will say we're not providing leadership."

ROOKIE COP FORESTALLS A BANK JOB

GRANTS, N.M. (AP) — A rookie policeman happened onto an attempted burglary at the Grants State Bank early Thursday and an unemployed uranium miner was seized.

Police Chief Bob Baca, who was aroused from sleep and who arrived on the scene with such haste that he left one shoe behind at home, said 30 minutes' delay could have meant theft of an estimated $25,000 from the bank's depository.

Officers surrounded the building and captured Franklin Robert Anderson, 32.

It was rookie Officer Ismael Baca (no relation to the chief) who discovered Anderson chipping away at the concrete enclosing the depository.

Having Coffee

The rookie had been having a cup of coffee in an all-night cafe at 4:30 a.m. As he walked out of the cafe, he heard a noise which caused him to approach the bank.

Rookie Baca peeked inside the bank and saw a man hacking away with tools at the depository.

The young officer slipped across the street to telephone for help. Fellow officers arrived quickly, led by the half-shod chief. They surrounded the bank, then obtained a key and walked in.

Anderson was sitting resignedly in a chair waiting for the officers.

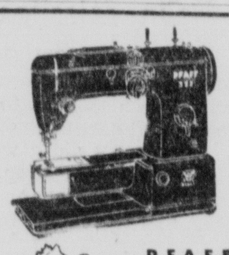

Police said entry to the bank was gained through a vent in the roof.

U.S. Has 4.2% More Teachers, Still Needs 227,500—NEA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Education Assn. (NEA) estimated Thursday that American public schools have 4.2 per cent more teachers this year than last year—but that they still are short 227,500 qualified teachers.

In its annual "Advance Estimates," the NEA research division set the 1957-58 supply of teachers at 1,240,424, compared to 1,190,865 last year.

However, it said this year's roster includes 87,319 not meeting full-scale teacher standards in their own states and that three-fifths of these have less than four years of college training.

The 227,500 additional teachers, the NEA said, are needed to replace improperly prepared teachers, to replace those leaving the profession, to relieve overcrowding, to serve added enrollment and to add services.

Services which need to be added in some localities, it said, include such special items as remedial work as well as regular subjects like mathematics.

The NEA estimated total enrollment in public schools at 33,508,814 for the school year. Of these, it said, nearly 24 million are elementary and over nine million secondary children. The total was close to that estimated earlier this fall by the U.S. Office of Education, but the NEA gave secondary schools a slightly heavier split.

Most Severe

The teacher shortage was found to be most severe in elementary grades and in rural areas, as in past years. The NEA said this is because secondary schools and city systems pay better and because the postwar baby wave has so far affected only the elementary schools.

However, the NEA noted that the wave of youth will soon reach the high schools and cautioned that "unless secondary teaching positions are made more attractive the number of emergency teachers in high school grades will also increase in the next two years."

The average classroom teacher's salary was found to have increased 7.1 per cent over last year. However, Sam M. Lambert, NEA research director, pointed out it is still only $4,520 a year and said this could be expected to continue to divert many qualified teachers to industry.

U.S. Plane Plunges In Flames

3 Airmen Die As Globemaster Hits Hills

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A U.S. military transport, groping to make a landing in thick fog, bounced off a hill and crashed in flames near Ankara Thursday. Three American servicemen were killed and three injured seriously. Two others escaped with minor injuries.

The four-engine Globemaster was carrying supplies from Wheelus Air Force Base at Tripoli for U.S. installations in Turkey.

Airport officials said the plane was unable to land because of heavy fog covering the area and was circling the hills near Ankara seeking a break. Villagers 16 miles north of the city said they saw th craft strike one hill and bounce off the crest with its tail assembly shattered. It then plunged into another hill and burst into flames.

Authorities refused to disclose the names of the casualties until next of kin are notified. Other sources, however, identified the pilot as Capt. John Olds. He was said to have suffered concussion. His home address was not disclosed.

Taken To Ankara

The injured were taken to the American military dispensary in Ankara.

The plane was last sighted when it flew over Ankara's Esenboga Airport Thursday morning. Heavy fog and bad visibility prevented it from landing.

Observers say its radio must have gone out of order because it sent no messages.

The crash against the low hill of Cataltepe, 15 miles from Ankara, came two hours later.

Flying Low

The altitude of the small hill showed the Globemaster must have been flying low.

At the Dover, Del., Air Force Base, a spokesman said the Globemaster was based at Dover. But he said he had no information on the crash or the names of the crewmen aboard.

Four Daykin Burglaries Net Little

Lincoln Star Special

DAYKIN, Neb. — Night raiders struck at four Daykin businesses sometime early Thursday morning but had little to be thankful for after their night's work.

Jefferson County Sheriff Deyo Hughes reported the Daykin post office was entered by intruders who smashed the back door, then knocked the lock off of a safe to take an estimated $35 in cash. It was not known whether stamps or money orders were taken.

Also entered was the Linus Dondlinger store where $14 in cash was taken; the Hohensee general store, where a burglar alarm was believed to have frightened thieves off; and the Daykin blacksmith shop.

At the blacksmith shop a heavy hammer was taken, believed to have been used to break in the doors at the other places, the sheriff said.

Hughes said one resident reported hearing the burglar alarm at the Hohensee store about 5:10 a.m. and notified the owner. Hohensee found the front door open and called the sheriff who discovered the other breakins.

Beatrice Youth Hurt In Hunting Accident

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb. — Larry Guenther, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Guenther of Beatrice, is recovering in a Beatrice hospital from a hunting accident.

Sheriff Ned Maxwell said the accident occurred Sunday near Steele City when a hunting companion's 410 guage shotgun accidentally discharged while being unloaded. The shots struck Guenther in the hip from about 12 feet. Doctors removed 32 pellets but said there were more lodged in the hip they were unable to remove.

Falls 70 Feet—Lives

DUNDEE, Scotland (AP)—A stonemason fell 70 feet from a church spire Thursday and lived. Women screamed as they say Douglas Cree, 24, totter on the edge of scaffolding, then plunge to the ground. He was taken to a hospital with serious back injuries.

Five Killed, 2 Injured In Auto Crash

DARIEN, Conn. (AP) — Five persons were killed Thursday in the collision of two automobiles on the Boston Post Road. Two persons were injured seriously.

Four were killed in the crash. A fifth died Thursday night at a hospital in nearby Stamford.

Two of the victims were 17-year-old Darien High School seniors, who were returning home after a movie and a snack.

The others were returning to Stamford from a dance in Norwalk.

The students were Robert Edwards and Joseph Harper Jr., both of Darien. They were returning home from a Stamford restaurant after attending a movie.

Killed in the second car were Polly Cobb, 19, identified by police as a domestic servant in Greenwich, and Joseph L. Roberts, 29, of Stamford.

John Roberts, 17, Joseph's brother, also of Stamford, died later in a hospital.

Injured were Joseph Roberts' wife, Lillie Mae, 22, and John Slayton, 26, of Philadelphia.

They were reported in serious condition at Norwalk Hospital.

Escaped Murder Suspect Hunt Is Off In California

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (INS)—Riverside County sheriff's deputies have called off an extensive search of the Idylwild Mountain resort area for escaped murder suspect Albert Kostal, 39.

All roads into the resort area were blocked off when a local resident reported he had seen Kostal and a woman companion in a parked car.

But a search of the area was abandoned when the escape artist's car was not found.

Kostal escaped from Jefferson, Colo., County jail where he awaited trial for the slaying of a special officer during a market holdup.

U.K. To Close Its Dockyards At Hong Kong

. . . By November '59

LONDON (AP)—The British government said Thursday night it is closing up its naval dockyards at Hong Kong off the mainland of Red China.

Lord Mancroft, minister without portfolio, who made the announcement in the House of Lords, said the "long-term future" of the Singapore dockyards, 1,500 miles southwest of Hong Kong, is still under consideration.

Lord Mancroft said the 50-year-old dockyards, which could service and repair warships up to cruiser size, would be closed down by Nov. 30, 1959. The decision, he said, was in line with "the current reorganization of naval forces and their shore support throughout the world."

Hong Kong's dockyards, only about half a mile from the center of Hong Kong, employ about 4,700 workers. The closing will save about $4,200,000 a year.

Police Reorganization

Steps have been taken by the City Council to reorganize the Police Department to give it better and more clear-cut direction. Responsibility of the various departments and individuals will be more clearly defined under the new program.

There is merit in this action and greater efficiency should be the result. But whether this will cure one of the basic ills of the department is still a good question.

What the department needs most of all is some way of keeping its personnel. The caliber of the department is bound to decline and its efficiency will suffer so long as personnel turnover remains in the 10 per cent bracket.

It is recognized, also, that this is the middle of a fiscal year for the city and no extra funds are available, but it would seem that salaries are at least as important as the change in the organizational setup. Undoubtedly, salary increases could not be given at this time but now that the organization has been established, emphasis should be placed on raising salaries to a decent level.

A number of good men have been lost in the Police Department, men of many years service, because of the low pay scale. A good police officer at almost any time could step into a number of other jobs that would materially improve his financial position.

So long as this spread between salaries in the Police Department and in private business remains as big as it is, the department will continue to lose its best men. We don't say any mistake was made by the Council with reorganization. On the contrary, it is timely and worthwhile, but it is important that the change does not leave the impression that problems at the Police Department are now all solved.

Paying The Piper

It is an open secret that the Republican admistration wooed the gulf South, especially Texas and Louisiana, prior to the 1951 national election in anticipation of electoral support. The gambit was offshore oil. The Gulf states and California wanted the petroleum and gas riches that were under the ocean and claimed the right to them. The Supreme Court had said they belonged to the nation.

The post election upshot was that the administration moved hard on Congress and succeeded in getting a law that gave the resources rights to the states out to their historic boundaries.

Now comes the administration's Department of Justice five years later in a case that would deny those state the off-shore resources beyond the three mile limit. The action will be welcomed by most of the states who were the losers by the original curious transaction, but it will meet with a vigorous legal protest by the benefitted states whose definition of historic boundaries goes much farther out to sea. To them this latest action is a case of "skookum potlach," of giving a gift and then taking most of it back.

Like Dixon-Yates, the offshore matter is one of the administration's greater embarrassments and something it will not immediately live down, nor should it.,

In addition to the questionable justice entailed in such political enterprises as Dixon-Yates, natural gas, and off shore oil the public has good cause for pondering a political state of mind, no matter how sincere, which would give its greatest energy and attention to such offbeat causes while national security was slipping through its fingers. The existence of Sputnik recalls that in the congressional session before last urgent consideration of farm and defense measures were caused to wait in a closet while the first six weeks of Congress were devoted to natural gas legislation. Subsequently education, farm relief and defense received a great deal less administration emphasis.

This failure to put first things first has done more to weaken public confidence than the appearance of Sputnik.

Look To Your Food Supply

Revelations of America's defensive weakness has jarred the complacency of the American people with much the same force as did Pearl Harbor, but with the difference that the latter offered an immediate course of action—which was war—while the current crisis leaves all with an initial feeling of frustration.

The frustration springs from a feeling that what must be done is something that only science and national leadership can do. The rank and file can't built a satellite, can't rig up a guided missile, can't produce the scientists to do such things out of hand.

But national security is not alone military security and the country never had a greater need for good sense and foresight in every field.

For several years the most energetic effort has been expended by the Benson farm administration to stifle food production and to eliminate reserve food supplies described as surplus. Fortunately, the efforts were largely ineffectual and the nation continues to possess reserves sufficient to provide a minimum diet for the greater part of the year. But it comes as a shock to learn that the reserves are so concentrated that in event of attack this country could not expect to last more than 20 days without the specter of famine.

Clearly here is an opportunity for a sort of foreplanning well within the reach of non-scientific America—that of acquiring an even greater reserve of foodstuff so dispersed that people everywhere can have access to it in an emergency. Public demand should be sufficient to bring about this very urgent and desirable move.

Foreign Aid

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

With President Eisenhower ill, the highlights of his latest scheduled address to the nation were delivered by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell. "Austerity and privation" were urged by Mitchell to be accepted for the American people to permit this country to continue military and economic aid to other countries of the free world. "No investment we can make," Mitchell said, "pays greater dividends than reasonable economic aid to friendly nations."

★

Probably nothing in American foreign policy has received any more discussion than this question of foreign aid. Many people look with disfavor upon it for one reason or another. Too often, the United States has been kicked in the teeth, so to speak, by nations it has befriended with military and economic aid. Also, there are reportedly many instances in which economic aid to a country went into the pockets of the rich and those running the country receiving aid rather than to the rank and file of people. Certainly, the foreign aid program has been a stormy one and it has had its share of setbacks but this is only one side of the picture. There is little way of telling what good results have come from foreign aid but there are certain known facts which indicate that Congress and the American people would be taking quite a risk if they chose to dump foreign aid at this point. It has taken a lot of tax money and in the face of growing demands for defense expenditures, foreign aid will look even bigger to the public.

Into Pockets Of Wealthy

The important thing to be remembered is that foreign aid is a two-fold endeavor. To be sure, there is a sincere feeling of generosity on the part of Americans behind this aid. The program stems basically from the belief of people in this country that they have an obligation to help all those who need it, regardless of what part of the world they might be located in. This, of course, is the reasoning that goes sour when nations aided by the U.S. turn from democracy to Communism. But beyond this reason is another point of less lofty motive but of greater importance.

★

America must face the realization that she is bidding against Russia for the friendship of nations throughout the world. True enough, friendships cannot be bought just for money but this is not exactly the only way to look at it. If you were near death's door but help from a stranger pulled you through the emergency, would you not think the stranger was then a real friend? Smaller nations of the world, struggling to get an economic foothold and to raise their standards of living and position in the universe, need outside assistance. As they progress in this struggle, they are likely to adopt the political philosophies of those who have aided them in reaching their goal. In some cases, purely selfish motives would drive some nations to either side which would benefit it most at the time.

Financial Bid For Friendship

Never before in the history of this nation has the need for friendships around the globe been greater. No longer is any single nation safe within itself. Foreign aid helps create both more friends and stronger ones. It may not be successful in every instance and may at times work to our disadvantage but it does not seem this period of world crisis is the time to eliminate it. Russia continues to move with vigor in areas which are critical to the defense of this nation. There is no doubt she would seize upon the elimination of aid from the U.S. as both propaganda and a practical tool with which to strengthen her own position.

Those Small Freedoms

Secretary of State Dulles, in commenting on Russia's advance on this country in the conquest of space, warned that the American people "may have to give up some small marginal freedoms" if this nation is to regain its former leading position.

It is surprising that he would make such an inappropriate statement and more surprising that the American people took it lying down.

There is no reason why America should throw away any of its freedoms in its fight to defend them. It would have been more factual had the secretary warned that the Americans would have to sacrifice some material comforts and practice more self-discipline. But there is an eternal difference between material sacrifice and casting away freedom. There seems to be a growing confusion on this point and Mr. Dulles is one of the victims. One of the small freedoms he abrogated was that affecting the American press. He wouldn't permit it to go to China and look around. The result was we do not know what is going on in China.

It is also significant that the American people did not know what was going on in the Russian laboratories. That was why Sputnik came as such a surprise and caught us so poorly prepared. If we give up a few more small freedoms like that, there won't be much left to save.

U.S. Has Sunk To Second Class Power?

WASHINGTON—It may not be palatable for us to digest this at Thanksgiving time, or at any other time, but the unquestioned, unpleasant truth that we have to take along with our Turkey dinner is that Soviet Russia today is ahead of us in all phases of modern warfare, except atomic submarines.

In 12 short years, Russia has caught up with us in nuclear development and outstripped us in missile technology. If war came today, she would probably win. Russia has put us close to being a second-class military power.

The reader may well ask how such positive statements can be made regarding Russia's strength. The answer is that American intelligence has been excellent. Allen Dulles, younger brother of the secretary of state, has submitted report after report to the White House, giving the alarming facts. He has made some political mistakes, such as going wrong on the exit of Marshal Zhukov, but he has not made many.

It's already been revealed that from our radar bases in Turkey we have spotted every firing 3,700 miles inside Russia. From these and other outposts we can track any missile firing inside Russia. From cameras carried in giant balloons we have spotted other operations. The Russians, it will be recalled, complained about these balloons.

☆ ☆ ☆

UNSUGARCOATED FACTS

From this, plus other authoritative sources, we have learned the following unsugarcoated facts about Russia's military might:

Nuclear power—Russia, whose first A-bomb was exploded four years behind ours, today has practically caught up with us in nuclear fire power. Our stockpile is larger, but Russia has enough bombs to cripple this country.

Air Power — Numerically, the Soviet today has the world's largest air force. She has thousands more combat planes than we, and her factories are producing them faster. Our technical intelligence has made detailed examinations of several Red planes that have fallen into our hands, and these autopsies show Russian technology lagged behind us from 1945 until 1952. Since 1952, the Russians have equaled our best efforts in air weapons.

In planes that count, Russia has over 13,000 sleek modern jets assigned to combat units. Our total, counting both Air Force and Navy, adds up to less than 9,500 jets. The Russians have twice as many intercontinental jet bombers and swarms more jet fighters considered slightly superior to ours.

The Red Army—The massive Red army is 10 times the size of ours. Its 175 divisions not only outclass our 17 divisions in manpower, but in firepower as well.

The Russian divisions are highly mobile, armed with rockets, and trained in atomic warfare. They are a match for our vaunted pentomic divisions, which likewise have been streamlined for atomic warfare.

Naval Power—The world doesn't seem to realize it, but in a few short years the Russian Navy has jumped from a handful of ancient impotent vessels to the rank of 2nd in the world. It has put the famous British fleet in 3rd place.

BOB CONSIDINE

Poland Festers In Discontent

WARSAW — One would think the concessions the Poles have extracted from the Kremlin including the right to borrow money from the United States would tend to make them happy. They are miserable.

There is the feeling here that Gomulka has gotten as much as can be diligently extracted out of Khrushchev and the Poles demand for more will be diligently treated. Another satellite might shrug and say: What we've got is better than nothing. But the Poles are tortured by their hunger for more and their knowledge that to haul off and try to get more by force can result only in another terrible bath of blood.

The Poles now have religion taught to their children in school for one hour each day. Eighty per cent of more than 10,000 collective farms have been returned to private ownership.

Newspapers can occasionally tell the truth.

Gomulka finds himself in trouble on three fronts. There is to start with the loathing of the average Pole for Communism. Secondly he is not in especially good standing with the Kremlin. His efforts two weeks ago in Moscow to get Mao Tse-tung to put in a plug for him apparently boomeranged. Finally his Polish Communist party is losing most of its intellectuals who feel he has done a bad job as the big brother of Poland.

The Poles felt as bad about Russia's brilliant Sputnik achievement as did some of the American scientists. An American diplomat's wife speaking to a Polish official the other day sighed, "I wish we had gotten Sputnik first." His answer was packed with fervor and significance. "We too," he said.

This part of the world was discouraged and remains discouraged because America did not come to the aid of the Poznan factory workers or the Hungarian freedom fighters when they rose against the Communists who controlled them.

They think of us in a sense as the heavyweight champion of the world who refused to intervene while watching a bully kick a little kid around. You cannot find anyone who will swear that either the voice of America or Radio Free Europe ever directly urged open rebellion. Instead they say that the tone of the broadcast, especially those of RFE, was both an enticement to rise and a promise of either American or United Nations intervention.

Unquestionably hundreds, probably thousands, died with the belief the Yanks were coming. The radio sounded to them as if they were. There also was wide surprise and displeasure over America's choosiness in accepting Hungarian refugees.

Wrapping A Family Around A Cut Paw

Gypsy is a gravely, awfully, terribly ill dachshund. My authority for this statement is not second-hand, through some meddling veterinarian. The information comes right from Gypsy herself, the youngest of our two overlength dogs.

The thing that is the matter with Gypsy is a cut foot. Mrs. F. discovered the wound one day about a week ago when Gypsy romped into the house with Jeep, the other dachshund, sat up perkily in the kitchen on the chance that someone would hand out something to eat, paused in the dining room to give two shakes to a rug she does not like, and finally flopped down in the living room to lick the pads of that back foot.

Mrs. F. thought a burr might be caught between the pads, and went to help. That is when she saw the gash, a shallow one between the toes. Mrs. F. is a very sympathetic person.

☆ ☆ ☆

Gypsy got the idea suddenly. She rolled over on her back and whined piteously. She waved the injured foot in the air. Mrs. F. petted her. Gypsy moaned deep in her throat and squeezed a couple of tears from her eyes. Mrs. F. went for some vaseline to daub on the cut. When she came back Gypsy was on the davenport, where she is never supposed to be.

"She howled so much when I tried to move her that I didn't have the heart to put her down," Mrs. F. told me later. "So I let her go to sleep on the davenport."

Her condition after that appeared to be what you might call fluctuating. At dinnertime she bounced into the kitchen without a wobble in a single leg, turned her usual circles on the floor in anticipation of food, and finished her own meal first so that she might grab some of Jeep's if the chance arose.

Usually at such times she will not molest Jeep while he eats unless she is entirely unobserved by humans. This time it made no difference. She pushed in ahead of him to finish up his bowl.

Jeep, being a gentleman dog, needs protection from Gypsy's food pilfering. Mrs. F. reached for Gypsy to put an end to the larceny. Gypsy saw the hand coming, bethought herself of her illness, flopped over on her back, waved her hind leg in the air and moaned. It was quite a trick, but at the end of the moan she twisted her neck to take a final swipe at Jeep's bowl with her tongue.

☆ ☆ ☆

By the next day she had Jeep doctoring her wound, which was hard for her to get at, and on the third day she had come to consider the davenport her private domain, with possession assured to her by the magic wand of a waving foot. In the yard she romped with all her usual energy, but in the house she found that when attention strayed from her for long, it could be brought back easily by a few low moans and a waving foot.

News Of Space Ship Outflies The Missile

By MONA B. PARKER

That well known feeling of a slight slump in spirits brought on by too much cloudy weather too many days in a row was discussed with understanding by Dorothy Conway in the Spalding Enterprise. Her upsurge of mood paralleled that of others when sunlight finally did replace the gloom of an overcast sky. . .

"The sun has been hiding his face behind a heavy growth of clouds for such a long time that we were happy to have him back among us, clean-shaven and spruced up for the week's work ahead."

Space ships are not the only things, apparently, that fly rapidly around the world. The stories about them travel even faster than the vehicles themselves. . .

Kearney seems to have found its place in the sun—or moon, as it were—with all the fuss and flurry that the recently reported landing of a carrier from outer space there brought its way. Fame and recognition for the town have reached out and beyond state and national borders. An inquiry was forthcoming this week and a request for additional information from a member of the foreign inspection corps of the State Department in Jerusalem.

Meadow Grove merchants believe in keeping their ads strictly up to the moment. One enterprising drug store listed in the News there: "Flu Items To Have On Hand for an Early Start at First Symptoms."

Likely prospect for most popular man with the Saturday matinee crowd in Pawnee City is Ernest Thiemann who did a little horticultural experimenting this past growing season. Mr. Thiemann planted two 50-foot rows of peanuts and is now digging down through mud to harvest them. For the seed purchase price of one thin dime, he estimates a return of two bushels of the tasty legumes which he will have roasted in the shell and enjoy through the winter months.

Comstock has its own modern piper, who is not so pied as he is proud, especially after all the publicity dished out in editorial columns of the News. Ed Krikac credits Homer Bailey with having assisted in the development of a new breed of mosquitoes with no bills. Seems Mr. Bailey spent his summer months de-billing every one of the little stingers that he caught, and the new generation of the pests have practically no point in exisiting. "The piper may have rid Hamlin of rats," boasts the News, "but Homer Bailey has rid Comstock of mosquitos—and he left us our children, too."

W. H. Plourd agrees with the current conclusion that a boy must dream of the future or he will have no future. What disturbs the Nance County Journal editor, however, "is the number who are dreaming about becoming athletic stars instead of leaders in the workaday world."

☆ ☆ ☆

A columnist for the Ravenna News, noting the storage of deer meat in lockers there, let fancy wander a bit wondering what a week's menu might have been for the Sioux, Arapahoes and Pawnees who once lived and hunted in that very region. . .

Possibly it was venison roasting over an open fire on Monday. . . stewing rabbit in a big black pot on Tuesday. . . antelope kabob for Wednesday. . . turtle baked in the shell on Thursday, with the turtle shell saved for use afterwards as a platter. . . Friday, broiled fish. . . Saturday, a buffalo rump roast, and Sunday's repast, chicken soup from the prairie chicken.

It was an ill wind, back in 1909, that blew up a blizzard severe enough to bring travel to a halt, but it brought together two then who became friends, and who met again last week. . .

The Charles Lickings were traveling to Seneca by covered wagon in 1909 when an early snow storm descended and forced them to spend several days at the home of Mrs. Frank Thornton's parents. Mrs. Licking and Mrs. Thornton were busy in the reminiscence department last week when Mrs. Licking came to call. . .

Science Grants From War Assets

WASHINGTON—Spurred by the space-age perils of Sputnik I and II, Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla) is urging backing for a bill to finance science scholarships out of war assets funds. Smathers was twice snubbed by Ike on the matter before Russian scientists beat the U.S. to outer space.

The chief selling point of the senator's proposed legislation—now 11 months old—is that no additional appropriations would be required to finance the scholarships and fellowships.

Approximately 1,500 grants could be provided each year out of the proceeds from alien property now held by the U.S. government.

The Florida senator, whose original bill would have given preference to children of war veterans, is now willing to remove that bar.

Because of the urgent necessity for training the more brilliant mathematics students as scientists, Smathers favors opening the competition to all, on an equal basis.

The program would be administered through the already-established National Science Foundation, to eliminate additional overhead. Smathers estimates that approximately $4,500,000 yearly would be available for scholarships and fellowships if the approximately $150,000,000 available from remaining war assets were invested at three per cent interest.

The war assets taken over from Germany and Japan during World War II originally totalled 375 million dollars. Their value subsequently increased to 600 million, 425 million of which has already been liquidated and the proceeds deposited with the treasury.

After paying off some 225 million dollars to former prisoners of Japan, reserving from 80 to 125 million for legitimate American war claims, and financing the alien property office, some 150 million dollars would remain for scholarship funds.

Smathers turns an unsympathetic ear to arguments that the war assets should be returned to Germany and Japan. Pointing out that the German economy is now one of the strongest in the entire world, he declared:

"The total German debt to western allies was 300 billion dollars, of which a major share was owed to the U.S. As a matter of grace, we accepted the German assets in this country, now worth only 600 million, in settlement of this huge German debt to us."

Since the war, the U.S. has lent Germany three billion dollars, and only last week that government announced an appropriation of 34 million dollars to be used for scholarships in engineering and science.

Smathers believes the administration is preparing to announce a scholarship-fellowship program of its own—11 months after the introduction of his bill—but he sees no reason for new appropriations when the war assets are available to substitute for the hard-pressed American taxpayer.

Christmas Rush

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I see the merchants here and elsewhere are busily engaged in their annual competition to see who can deck their commercial halls with boughs of holly first. It used to be that the old red and green decorations to beckon buyers into the stores were cracked out first thing after the last turkey drumstick was consumed and bicarbonate administered. But this year they were several weeks ahead of Thanksgiving. I really do think this is going too far, competition or no competition. Surely a month of squeezing the Christmas trade for all it will yield is enough.

It seems as if the world and all its component parts are getting greedier and greedier with each passing season. No one pauses any more to think of the significance of the loveliest of holiday times. They're too busy madly elbowing their way through the crowds in pursuit of the glitter and tinsel of expensive cards and gifts in order to outdo others who are doing the same thing. It really isn't much of an inspiration in this day and age when we need all the inspiration and faith that we can get our hearts on.

The simple things are best. They always have been and will continue so if we as a nation are able to recognize the fact before it is too late to retrace our hurrying footsteps.

Matter Of Honor

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Twice in recent weeks I have parked my car downtown and on returning to it I have found that someone had driven into it doing damage sufficient to cost me in the neighborhood of $100. In both instances the car was properly parked and in no position to contribute any cause for the damage. Yet in both instances the doer of the damage drove off without report to the police as the law requires and without leaving any identification for his victim.

It is presumed, because the law requires it, that Nebraska car operators carry liability insurance or are competent in the eyes of the law to stand the responsibility for property damage they create.

I am not the only one concerned with this seemingly rising disregard for property. I am told that my experiences are being duplicated every day. I cannot understand people who buy liability insurance and then practice hit-and-run driving. They are providing a hardship for their victims while cancelling out both their own honor and the insurance protection they have bought and paid for.

Farm Income, On The Rise, Still Lags Behind Others

. . . Keeping Political Issue Alive

By OVID MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture as a whole marked up a slight gain in income in 1957 but continued to lag behind the remainder of the economy. This latter fact kept political fires burning under the farm issue.

At an annual rate of slightly more than 12 billion dollars, farm operators' net income was about 2 per cent above that of 1956. This was the first time since 1947 that their income had increased for two consecutive years.

Nevertheless, the financial return was about 30 per cent below the record marked up in 1947 and around 20 per cent below the level farm leaders figure agriculture should have been to put farmers on an income par with their city cousins.

Ike Programs Hit

Because there was no greater improvement and also because the immediate future did not promise much more, farm policies of the Eisenhower administration came under sharp attack from some farm groups as well as from some farm state congressmen, both Democrats and Republicans.

This criticism was directed rather pointedly at Secretary of Agriculture Benson. Demands that he resign—or that the President fire him—came from many of the critics. The latter included several midwestern Republicans who expressed fear that Benson's continuance in the farm post would weaken the party's chance in the 1958 congressional elections.

But, as he had done at previous times when Benson came under attack, the President kept Benson on the job. Nevertheless, there was much speculation toward the end of the year that a new face would be brought in soon to take over farm programs.

Surplus Woes

As in earlier years of the present administration—and as is likely to be the case for several years to come—crop surpluses continued to be agriculture's major problem. Oversupplies operated to hold down prices of this year's crops just as they had done since 1952. They also operated to restrict production opportunities under crop production control and land retirement programs of the government.

Farmers cut their crop acreage to the lowest level in 40 years. Yet production was indicated to be up to the record volume produced in 1948, when there were no government restrictions, and matched last year. This bountiful harvest on such a small acreage reflected the effects of an ever-developing agricultural technology.

Farm prices as a whole increased about 3 per cent during the year, but most of this improvement was in markets for livestock and livestock products rather than crops. Cattle and hogs in particular made price gains.

Controversy over the farm situation led to demands for changes in present government farm programs. There was agreement on both sides of the conflict—the administration and its critics—that present programs are not working effectively enough to put farmers in a better position.

The year ended with the prospect that the 1958 session of Congress would again tackle the farm problem. But because of wide differences of views between the administration and farm leaders in congress, chances did not appear bright for significant action at that time.

Costs Increase

Complicating the financial situation for many farmers was the fact that their production costs continued to move upward. The 2 per cent increase put these costs at a record high. Much of the rise reflected higher prices for industrial products.

The year saw farm assets climb to a record high of 168 billion dollars, an increase of 7 per cent over 1956. But much of this increase reflected effects of inflation on farm real estate values. These values went up nearly 8 per cent to bring the rise to 20 per cent since 1953.

Much of the advance in prices reflected demands of many farmers themselves for land to enlarge farming units. Some also reflected demands of non-farmers for land for rural homesites, airports, highways, industrial sites and other uses.

Record Volume

A record volume of farm commodities moved into export markets. Valued at nearly five billion dollars, nearly 60 per cent of the exports were sold or shipped under government cut-price, foreign aid or give-away programs. But the export volume is expected to decline somewhat in the year ahead, due to improved production in many foreign areas and to the fact that many importing countries built up stockpiles in 1957 which will enable them to buy less in 1958.

An Agriculture Department survey showed that the year brought a further decline in the number of farms and farm operators. The less efficient and marginal farmers were most subject to financial difficulties. Some left farming for non-farm jobs, although a sizeable number continued to live on the farm.

The outlook for the new year was for little change in farm prices and incomes, for a continued high level of production, a continuation of surplus holdings, some further upturn in farm production costs as well as in land values, but a further decline in the number of farms and farmers, particularly in the category of the less efficient and smaller acreage units.

Increased emphasis was foreseen on efforts to develop broadened markets, especially in industry.

Dear Abby . . .

Dear Diary!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I happened to run into my daughter's diary under her mattress. Naturally like any other mother, I read it. I am very worried because it is full of lies. She writes about places she went to with certain boys (she is 15) and she was at home those nights with us and never had any dates. I don't know what to make of all this. Should I talk to her about it even though I know she will be angry at me for reading it?

WORRIED MOM

DEAR MOM: If her fantasy is active only on the pages of her diary—don't worry. Don't mention it—and I suggest you respect your daughter's privacy.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what is the matter with my son-in-law. He and my daughter live in my house and I am glad to have them, but lately he has been hollering and shouting just like he thinks we are all deaf. I don't want to start any trouble by asking my daughter to find out what's wrong with him, but I don't mind telling you, Miss Abby, he sure has me worried. Can you help me out?

NOT DEAF

DEAR NOT: Your hearing may be all right, but there's a possibility that your son-in-law is losing his. You would not be out of order if you suggested to your daughter that her husband have his hearing tested.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My daughter has been chosen as bridesmaid for her girlfriend's wedding. The girlfriend went downtown and picked out the bridesmaids' dresses. We are just ordinary working people and I want to know if we are expected to buy this dress that the bride picked out, and my daughter will wear only once, or aren't we? My husband says it is too expensive an honor for us and we should turn it down. What do you say?

MRS. G. K.

DEAR MRS. G. K.: The bridesmaids usually pay for their own dresses (selected by the bride) but in cases where the family of the bride is very well-to-do, the gowns are furnished. If you feel that this honor is too expensive, by all means have your daughter decline it.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who comes over whenever I have out-of-town company. She takes over just like they were her company whether she knows them or not and you can't get a word in edgewise. All she talks about is her kids until I could scream. Yesterday she stayed and stayed, all afternoon, until I had my supper on the table. She is no special friend of mine, either. Please tell me what to do with a person like this?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: There are some people who have to be told in very plain English and your neighbor is one of them. Don't be afraid of hurting her feelings because she obviously has the sensitivity of a rhinoceros. When she appears at your door, tell her that you are sorry you can't invite her in because you have company.

NORTH PLATTE LIONS PUSH 'EYE BANK'

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. — The North Platte Lions Club has begun distributing posters explaining the Nebraska-Iowa "Eye Bank" plan, together with return postcards which prospective donors can sign.

Under the plan a physician removes the eyes within three or four hours after death. The eyes are placed in a special "eye kit" and kept under refrigeration.

They are then delivered to the University of Iowa Hospital in Iowa City by the Nebraska and Iowa State Safety Patrols. The transplants must be made within 24 hours after the death of the donor.

The North Platte Lions committee includes Dr. Dale Sarratt, Dr. Gordon Sawyers, Carl Phares, Don Lowe, Zeke Sadi and R. F. Easter.

4-H'ers Leave Saturday For Chicago Meet

Nebraska's delegation to the 36th National 4-H Club Congress Dec. 1-5 in Chicago, Ill. will leave Nov. 30.

The 30 trip winners, announced previously, will be accompanied by four University of Nebraska Extension staff members: Elaine Skucius and Louie Rudman, assistant state 4-H leaders; Beulah Hargleroad, Burt county home agent; and S. E. Lingo, Washington County agent.

From the 1300 young people at the Congress, 218 4-H'ers will be named national winners of college scholarships.

'Improving Family'

Theme of the event is "Improving Family and Community Living." The 5-day program will include assemblies, award-winning banquets, tours, entertainment and other activities.

Eighteen foreign countries will be represented at the event by International Farm Youth Exchangees, rural youth leaders and Extension workers.

The Congress is conducted by the Extension Services of state agricultural colleges and the U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago.

School Threatened By Prairie Blaze

CENTER, Neb. — Fire fighters with shovels, sacks and water were kept busy putting out a prairie fire near the Center public school.

The flames were discovered just after the afternoon school session had started. The blaze traveled eastward, away from the school, however, and burned over about five acres of pasture land before they were doused.

There was no damage except burning of the grassland, owned by Jim Eggers. It was believed that sparks from a trash incinerator behind the school started the fire.

Oak Blacksmith Shop Still In Business

By BILL HINEL
Staff Writer

OAK, Neb.—Thanks to the sentimentalism of 80-year-old George Campbell, this little community of 140 persons still has its blacksmith shop and it is enjoying a good business.

Campbell founded the shop in 1898 and operated it for 49 years. Nine years ago he decided to retire and sold the shop. However, the new owner ran into hard luck and was going to close the shop and auction off the equipment.

It was then that Campbell stepped in. He bought the shop back and operated for about a year and a half until he was able to sell it to the present owner, LaVerne Hutchinson. Hutchinson's venture is evidently successful and he is enjoying a good business.

Campbell stated, "I just couldn't bear to see the old shop closed up and Oak without a blacksmith shop, so I bought it back."

Still Helps Out

Nowadays he doesn't do much because of his health. But he does come down in the summer time to help out when the plow and lister business gets heavy.

Campbell learned his trade in Illinois, beginning in 1894. He settled in Oak, then a busy, up-and-coming community along the Little Blue River. He operated the blacksmith shop and later, from 1916 to 1924, also sold and worked on automobiles.

"Smithing has changed considerably and today, instead of shoeing horses and repairing horse-drawn machinery, you work on combines, tractors and other modern equipment". One thing hasn't changed much though, according to Campbell. The plow shares are much the same as during the days of the prairie breaker and they still need to be reshaped and sharpened and pointed.

'Best In Area'

Farmers in the area will tell you Campbell is the "best plow man in this part of Nebraska." Work comes from Bruning, Hebron, Angus, Edgar, Nelson and other communities.

Since he has had to "slow down", Campbell now is a frequent visitor to the shop, almost daily, and during the summer helps out with the plow work.

Recently, a son, Joe L. Campbell of Omaha and a daughter, Mrs. Lucille Reisser of Des Moines, Ia., with their families, put on a birthday party for the Oak blacksmith and some 40 friends dropped in. Guests included a niece, Mrs. Bob Irwin of Lincoln; the only grandson and a great-granddaughter.

The annual trips to California, which he made each year for 13 years, have now been dropped, but Campbell still drives his car. His biggest worry these days is trying to keep Mrs. Campbell from working too hard about the house.

Oak Blacksmith Knows Plowshares

George Campbell (right) who is 80 years old, has more or less retired from active smithing but still makes daily visits to the shop he once owned, now operated by LaVerne Hutchinson (left). Above, Campbell examines a plowshare turned out by his protege. (Star Staff Photo)

MURDER TRIAL JAN. 27 FOR OMAHAN, 32

OMAHA (AP) — George Daniel Jones Jr., 32-year-old former packinghouse worker, may go on trial for first degree murder Jan. 27, 1958.

Public Defender Joseph M. Lovely said that is the tentative date for trying Jones before a District Court jury on charges the Omahan shot and killed Mrs. Rita Kappenman May 29.

State Shorthorn Lassie Queen To Vie In Chicago

Delores Engelhardt, Nebraska Shorthorn Lassie Queen arrived in Chicago Thursday to compete for the title of International Shorthorn Lassie Queen. The 18-year-old Luther Junior College freshman will compete against girls from 16 other states, Canada and Scotland for the International title.

Selection of the International Queen is made by the college livestock judging teams participating in the International Live Stock Exposition.

Annual Junior College Meet Set Next Week

FAIRBURY, Neb. — Near 100 persons are expected to attend the annual convention of the Nebraska Association of Junior Colleges to be held in Fairbury Friday and Saturday, Dec. 6 and 7.

Registration will begin at 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 6, at the Methodist Church, followed by the association banquet.

'U.S. Should Keep Secrets'

. . . Frenchman Urges

OMAHA (AP) — French Journalist George Jouin said America should keep its military secrets and not share them with other NATO nations.

He emphasized in an interview that he was referring only to military secrets and not to scientific knowledge.

Jouin said no nation can keep secret theoretical knowledge of the atom and should not attempt to do this.

France, he said, is forced by circumstances to concentrate on the production of atomic power for peaceful uses. The nation, he commented, has an increasing need for power for industry and that its power resources, aside from the atom, are taxed to the maximum.

He said that in touring the U.S. he has paid close attention American reaction to the Sputniks and had found "unquietness, but not fear."

PLAN FOR REORGANIZATION IN RICHARDSON COUNTY DELAYED

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — The scheduled Dec. 10 election to vote on a plan to merge 41 Richardson County rural and town school districts into one district has been postponed indefinitely.

The county redistricting committee has been notified that since a few changes had been made in the plan since its approval by the state committee, it again must be submitted to the state group for approval before an election can be held.

The revisions in the plan consisted chiefly of minor boundary changes.

The plan includes the towns of Salem, Verdon, Stella, Shubert, Barada and the rural areas surrounding them.

The state redistricting committee does not meet until Dec. 10 and if the plan is approved then, the election could not be held, at the earliest, until after the first of the year.

Scientific Training Speed-Up Is Seen

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — Rep. Miller (R-Neb) has suggested that recent developments in the field of satellites and missiles probably will bring some action to speed up scientific training.

"I believe we may speed up a program of aptitude tests and tests for scientific scholarships," he said during a visit to North Platte. "If the Russians are going to give students five years of science then we should follow suit."

"It might be good if the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges would change required subjects to include more mathematics and science," he added.

Rep. Miller said he believed the United States would be able to launch a satellite very soon. "We are ahead of them (the Russians) in development of missiles with ranges up to 1,500 miles, in air-to-air missiles and in atomic submarines," he said.

The Fourth District Congressman had these comments on other subjects:

The Welch report on broader use of agricultural products by industry to cut down surpluses: Rep. Miller endorsed it. "The report showed 100 different uses of farm products in industry," he said.

Surpluses: "We will have a population of 250 millions by 1975 and to feed them we will need 50 per cent more beef than we produce today, 40 per cent more pork and 30 per cent more milk and eggs."

Labor unions: "It is my belief that 99 per cent of union members are honest men. Some of them have been exploited by corrupt leaders." He said that in the next session of Congress changes in the Taft-Hartley Law could take five directions—to insure honest union elections, to protect union welfare funds, to make the larger unions subject to anti-trust laws, to eliminate secondary boycotts, to endorse right-to-work laws.

Irrigation: "Surplus crops are not grown on irrigated lands. Less than 4 per cent of corn, a surplus crop, is irrigated."

Holdup Try Thwarted

OMAHA (AP)—An attempted holdup at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel in downtown Omaha was thwarted early Thursday by the quick thinking of Sam Williams, 74-year-old hotel time keeper.

Police were told a man walked into the time keeper's office in the basement of the hotel with a knife in his hand. Williams said he picked up a large iron meat hook and knocked the knife out of the man's hand.

Williams said the intruder grabbed a box of assorted items, apparently thinking it contained money, and fled from the hotel. Hotel officials said the box was "valueless." It contained pencils, old paper and padlocks, they said.

The hotel office and desk are locked on the first floor of the hotel.

HIGHWAY BIDS $86 MILLION IN OCTOBER; NONE FOR NEBRASKA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of Public Roads reported Thursday that contracts for work on 171 miles of the interstate and defense highway system were awarded during October. The work is estimated to cost some 86 million dollars. None were listed for Nebraska or Iowa.

In the 16 months since the Federal-Aid Highway Act became law, 2,576 miles of construction have been advertised for contract, put under way or completed, at an estimated cost of nearly 1½ billion dollars.

When the 41,000-mile network of superhighways is completed it will link 90 per cent of all U.S. cities with a population of 50,000 or more and will carry about 20 per cent of the nation's motor vehicle traffic. The 13 to 15 year project is expected to cost more than 30 billion dollars—most of it to come from the collection of highway users' taxes.

At the end of October, construction was under way on 1,923 miles of the intersate system at an estimated cost of more than 989 million dollars. Construction completed since July 1, 1956, including work authorized prior to that date, totaled 1,110 miles and cost more than 215 million dollars.

Longtime Postal Worker Bartek Plans To Retire

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb. —Harry Bartek, 63, an employe of the Beatrice post office for 41 years is retiring this month. Appointed clerk in the post office in 1916, Bartek was promoted to assistant postmaster in 1942.

Beatrice Postmaster Leigh Coffin announced that Arthur J. Smith 48, formerly superintendent of mails and a veteran of 24 years service, will assume the assistant postmastership effective Dec. 14. Myron W. Shield will be superintendent of mails and Herbert P. Jark, assistant superintendent of mails in the Beatrice post office.

COLDER TEMPS FORECAST

Rain was forecast for most of the Atlantic Coast states, Ohio, Tennessee, and lower Mississippi Valley and in upper Washington state Friday afternoon. Snow was expected in northern New England and the northern sectors of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Montana. Fair weather was to prevail over most of the rest of the nation. (AP Wirephoto)

Ag Chief Sticks To Price Plan

No Benson, Solon Break Is Seen

WASHINGTON (INS) — With Congress ready to convene again in January, farm observers saw no sign Thursday of a break between Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and the lawmakers on price supports.

House Agriculture Committee chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-NC) told reporters this week after a 70-minute conference with Benson that the secretary gave no evidence of abandoning his demand for lower price floors.

Nor—according to Cooley—was there any evidence that Benson would support a system of compensatory payments for small-scale farmers whose income might be reduced by a cut in support rates.

Cooley expressed doubt that any plan for chopping support prices—and increase allotments slightly—could pass Congress, at least not next year.

Pounds Or Bushels

The lawmaker also indicated he would not support any system of marketing quotas based on pounds or bushels instead of the present acreage system. He said this would penalize the efficient farmer who boosts yields by using modern farming practices.

Cooley remarked, however, that he and Benson agreed the present program—particularly as applied to cotton—isn't working.

Benson has argued strongly for his program in speech after speech during the past seven months, ever since he asked for lower support floors on corn and cotton.

Authority

He says that he doesn't necessarily want to lower support rates, but would like to have the authority to do so if such action is warranted.

Benson also insists that current escalator clauses, that send support rates up when supplies go down, merely create new surpluses after the government succeeds in getting rid of some of its stockpile of commodities.

SEN. HRUSKA TO REPORT ON NATO MEETINGS

OMAHA (AP)—Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb) is scheduled to give a first hand "Report On NATO" at a Chamber of Commerce public affairs luncheon Tuesday.

The senator, one of six attending the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings this month on assignment by President Eisenhower, is expected back in this country Dec. 1.

Upon completing the NATO sessions, Hruska began a European tour, during which he was to visit a number of German cities as official guest of the German Bundestag.

BUFFALO HERD HAMPERS GEOLOGISTS

EDMONTON, Alta (AP) — The world's largest buffalo herd—15,000 strong—is frustrating a northland search for minerals.

Geologists so far have been unable to get permission to enter the federal government's Wood Buffalo Park, a 17,300-square-mile preserve straddling the Alberta-Northwest Territories boundary. The main reason for this is believed to be herd protection.

Geologists contend the park contains geological formations similar to those in the Pine Point area on the south shore of Great Slave Lake, where an estimated 60 million tons of lead-zinc ore await development.

Getting Anxious

Dr. H. N. Grace, director of the Alberta Research Council, told the province's government-appointed commission on northern development in hearings here this week geologists are getting anxious to make a detailed study of the park.

"We wish we knew exactly what is there," he said. "We'd like to shoo the buffalo over a few miles."

The commission was told that one large company, interested chiefly in copper, already has applied for federal authority to make detailed surveys in the area.

Dr. Grace said the route of a proposed rail line to Pine Point cannot be determined properly until the park's mineral potential is known. He estimated that in the event of a national or world emergency it would take two years to obtain a good indication of the park's potential wealth.

G. N. Finland, manager of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines, said "we've been talking about a railway to Pine Point for 10 or 20 years. The income tax alone from resources development in the area opened up would pay for the rails in 50 years."

It's Canes, Canes, Canes—800 To 900 Of 'Em—At The Rev. Jeambey's

By MARGARET DVORAK
Star Staff Writer

Canes in the attic, in the basement and in the closets—between 800 and 900 novel and rare canes—are to be found in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Jeambey of 4725 Cleveland.

There were many more, but in recent years, the Rev. Mr. Jeambey, who began collecting them many years ago, weeded out a large number of duplicate and "irrelevant" canes.

Over the years the canes have been viewed by thousands of persons, for the Rev. Mr. Jeambey delights in exhibiting them as illustrations of moral and spiritual values.

Toured With Canes

For several years, he toured on a full time basis with the School Assemblies Service, showing the canes before high school, college and service club audiences all over the country and, during the war, in numerous Army camps and hospitals.

He still gives his cane-illustrated lectures occasionally to schools and church groups.

A large number of the canes or "sticks" have come from friends in the mission field, but others have come to him under unique circumstances. Many who have heard him speak voluntarily add to his collection.

The canes are all neatly categorized and kept in separate cases. For example, the case of "historic persons" includes a cane belonging to Grover Cleveland, and another belonging to John Witherspoon, the first president of Princeton and the only minister to sign the Declaration of Independence.

Unusual Materials

Then there are canes made of unusual materials, such as sea weed, shark backbone, human hair, caribou horn, and a very pretty one of compressed newspapers.

School children who hear Rev. Jeambey's lectures are fascinated by some of his novelty canes which include a sword "stick" which single girls of the Kandu Tribe in India must "marry" on reaching the age of 12.

Then there is a stick used to grant a "legal" divorce by a native tribe of Madagascar. The husband simply gives it to his wife and she is automatically banished from the tribe until her hair turns white.

To Clout Bride With

Or there is the stick used by husbands at the marriage rites of the Bakoyiga tribe of Africa. They clout their brides on the head as a pledge of fidelity.

Another novelty is a smuggler's cane equipped with a secret dope chamber.

Equally intriguing are the sinister histories of some of his "bad sticks"—as Rev. Jeambey calls them.

There is, for example, the stick used to kill twins (considered an evil omen) by the Tiriki tribe of Kenya. The murder club of the medicine men of the lost tribe of Incas in Paraguay was used to destroy all children after the second in each family. An oriental bone crusher was brought home from the South Pacific by a prisoner of war. An Amazon River Indian blowgun is complete with poisoned darts.

Good Ones, Too

Rev. Jeambey "counteracts" these sinister canes by showing some of his most beautiful and "benevolent" sticks, including a lovely lacquered Chinese stick with 100 silver inlays in Chinese characters, all wishing the owner "a long life." And he exhibits a palm stick made of palms growing along the road in Palestine where Christ traveled on Palm Sunday. Or he can show a graceful cane made from the oldest grape vine in the state of Oregon, planted by pioneers before the region became a state.

Among what Rev. Jeambey terms his "sentimental canes" is one which helped to save his son's life.

The son, Leo, was shot down in his plane during World War II, and was taken prisoner by the Nazis of Nuremberg, Germany. Badly injured in the crash and suffering a broken knee, Jeambey stole a branch from a tree (growing beside the guard's house) and whittled a cane. The cane enabled him to walk and thus to survive a long, 17-day death march to another prison camp.

His antique canes include a cane picked up from a Civil War battlefield and a stick—the oldest in his collection—bearing the old German Eagle insignia, used four years before the pilgrims landed in America.

Canes of different nations are used by Rev. Jeambey to emphasize comparative religious beliefs and among these some of the most interesting are the Arapaho prayer stick used in the Peyote ceremonies to wake up the spirits; and the personal beaded stick of Geronimo, the Apache chief.

Concerning her husband's burgeoning collection of canes, Mrs. Jeambey said, "I have to fight to keep the house clear." But she says it with good humor, for she knows the history of each of the canes nearly as thoroughly as her husband.

Educators Asked:

Why State Space-Age School Lag?

By BILL W. DEAN
Associated Press Writer

If the schools have fallen down in educating our young people for the age of rockets and missiles, where does the trouble lie?

"The 'leak in our Nebraska dike' is the hundreds of ill-manned, ill-equipped and ill-placed high schools," says President Donald M. Typer of Doane College.

He was one of two dozen Nebraskans, in the field of education and outside it, who were asked by the Associated Press for their views on a proposed speedup in science education.

Parents, Public Blamed

Most of them placed much of the blame for a withering interest in science and mathematics studies to parents and a disinterested public.

Dr. Barton Kline, president of Chadron State Teachers, put it this way:

"It is important to remember that in our public schools and colleges the parents—the public—determine what shall be taught and how well it is taught.

"Many of the finer science and math teachers have left the high schools and colleges for better paying jobs in industry. The thing is progressive, and the deterioration of inspirational teaching in science does not stimulate students to enter the science teaching field."

'Painless'

In the opinion of Brig. Gen. James Knappi, director of installations engineering for the Strategic Air Command, "our current plight is the result of an attempt to make education painless, and to get the maximum number of people through high school and college—sort of a glorification of the mediocre."

Dr. Robert E. Feeney, chairman of the department of biochemistry and nutrition at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, rates the present status of public school education as very good.

But he suggests "teachers should have their work load reduced, by removing considerable of the extra-curricular activities which are frequently forced upon them, so as to give better instruction."

Only 'Good'

A Beatrice physician, Dr. Wayne Waddell, finds public school education "good—not excellent," and says "it is receiving much attention from the public and is improving."

Gen. Knapp rates public education today "about 65 per cent as good as it was 30 years ago and about 55 per cent as good as that available in Canada, England and Switzerland."

Cherry County Rancher Bob Hanna is one of those who thinks today's students need not only more science but more of other subjects. "I feel that languages and English should be stressed more," he says.

Zimmerman—the scientist—comments that "scholars are needed in all fields."

Dr. Emerson Jones, Consumers Public Power District nuclear consultant, believes "the shortage of scientists is no greater than the shortage of competent people in the humanities, arts, etc. Can it be the status of our technical development so outweighs our achievements in the humanities that this is our basic problem?"

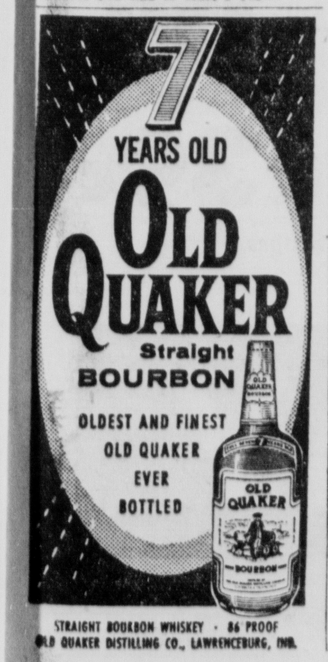

Stampede

Dr. W. V. Lambert, dean of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, cautions that "we should not be stampeded into making wholesale and unwise changes because of the present situation. Certainly more stress needs to be placed on fundamentals throughout the whole school system. This stress should be for all courses and not just for scientists and engineers.

Says a layman, P. A. Cass, vice president in charge of personnel for Northern Natural Gas Co.:

"I think everything in the world ought to be done to preserve our public school system of education. We need more emphasis on providing better facilities, better pay, more teachers—and less criticism."

DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

I have torn off box tops until my fingers are raw. I have filled out sentences like, "I like Doggy Tid-bits because . . ." I enter jumbled face contests. I never win a crying dime.

Therefore, it comes as a bitter blow that the Kent Shelbys of Long Beach, Calif., have won a South Sea Island. They won Ava Ava in the Fijis. A motor boat, an outrigger canoe and 56 coco palms.

The island was a prize in a moving picture contest—"The Little Hut"—and I think it starred Miss Ava Gardner in one of those shipwreck things. You know, where the second day the lady castaway apparently still has beauty parlor treatment and a fresh set? But her shorts and shirt are getting mighty raggedy?

☆ ☆ ☆

To fetch in the public, the movie people had a contest to give away Ava Ava. I was in Suva in the Fijis when this was all going on. And the Fiji publicity people were wild about the idea.

They even gave me an advance release on the contest. The movie people gave you four lines of a poem. You should fill in the last line and win the island. They gave you:

"On an island with nothing else but
"A coconut tree and a hut
"Two men and a dame
"Played the triangle game
"Tah-dah-dee, dah-dah-dee, dah dah."

We were lapping up Melbourne bitter on the porch at the Grand Pacific Hotel. And I immediately determined to enter this contest and retire to my island.

☆ ☆ ☆

I even knew what "The Little Hut" was all about. I saw it staged at the Sombrero Theater in Phoenix. It is about two gents stranded on an island with a lush cupcake. By and by a third cat shows up.

How they ever got this on the screen is beyond me.

Anyway, the Fiji houseboy brought out some damp notepaper and we began whacking off last lines. Some of them I will not go into. But some were excellent poetry.

We fooled around with things like "tut, tut."

Also, "The result of this was you know what."

The Australians objected to this. They said it was suggestive. I said if they thought that was suggestive, they should see the play. Wow!

They said it did not rhyme.

"Dear chap," they said, "your lawst line must rhyme with 'but.' You 'ave 'ere 'you know wot.' Eh, wot?" they said.

☆ ☆ ☆

Anyway, we worked out a number of lines. Using "cut" and "putt" and "rut" and "mutt" and "shut." I sent them off under a number of names. Like "Rt. Hon. James Snively, Bart." Good, solid names.

I gave my address at Nadi. I told Doug Hilliger at the airport to let me know as soon as I won.

Nothing. Absolutely nothing.

Now I read in the journals that the Shelbys win. He is 23, she is 21. They NEVER entered a contest before in their lives. They won with a line:

" 'Til alas the swains met with rebut."

You like that? Let me tell you if I wrote, " 'Til alas,' " editors would fly into a rage. I would be lucky to land on the Fiji Times. Also how about "rebut" for a rhyme with "but?" That is slicing it pretty thin in my opinion.

Also the swains did NOT meet with rebut. I am not sure what rebut means. But they did not meet with it. The way I saw that play—well, we will not even talk about it.

Bride At Afternoon Wedding

MRS. ORVILLE RITTERLING

Arrangements of red and white carnations, against a background of cathedral candles in seven-branched holders, appointed the chancel of the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Laurel where the wedding of Miss Elaine Haisch of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Haisch of Laurel, to Orville Ritterling, also of Lincoln and son of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Ritterling of Byron, took place on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 27. The lines of the 4:30 o'clock ceremony were read by the Rev. Norman Ritterling, brother of the bridegroom, and another brother, Marvin Ritterling, a senior Seminarian, delivered the sermonette.

The maid of honor, Miss Eileen Haisch; the bridesmaid, Miss Elaine Moerer of Omaha, and the junior bridesmaids, Miss Linda Haisch and Miss Lila Haisch, sisters of the bride, wore alike frocks of red velvet and matching chiffon. The bodices of velvet were snugly fitted above the bouffant, ballerina skirts of the red chiffon worn over petticoats of net and taffeta. Each wore an open-crowned hat of red velvet, briefly veiled, and each carried a nosegay of white pompons encircled with white tulle. Kathy Runstean of Omaha and Becky Caskey of Council Bluffs were the flower girls, and Galen Zurcher of Tilden was the ringbearer. The candles were lighted by James Dirks of Lincoln, and Robert Haisch.

Verland Ritterling of Byron served his brother as best man, and seating the guests was Raymond Ritterling of Byron and Lawrence Ritterling of Chester, both brothers of the bridegroom; Gerald Schmidt of Romeo, Mich., and Irvin Haisch.

A gown of imported Chantilly lace and tulle was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The low, rounded neckline of the long-sleeved and smoothly sculptured lace-over-satin bodice, was patterned with an embroidered motif of pearls and iridescent sequins. Beneath the slender waist the voluminous skirt was created of alternating lace and tulle panels, patterned with pearls and sequins, and accentuated fullness was given with a back panel of alternating ruffles of lace and tulle, each edged with pearls and sequins. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place with a small hat ornamented with orange blossoms, and edged with pearls and sequins. She carried Sweetheart roses and lilies-of-the-valley on a white Bible.

Mr. Ritterling and his bride, following a reception in the church parlors, left for a short honeymoon trip after which they will reside at 228 So. 17th St., Lincoln.

The bride attended Midland College in Fremont. Mr. Ritterling attended Capitol University, Columbus, O., and now is a senior in the College of Engineering at the University of Nebraska.

TOWN TALK

ONE OF the happy events of Thanksgiving week was the 4 o'clock to 6 o'clock party on Wednesday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulkner entertained at their home in courtesy to the 50th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Faulkner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rathburn. Mrs. Rathburn, very lovely in pale pink chiffon, and Mr. Rathburn received congratulations in the living room, and Miss Virginia Faulkner presided in the dining room where a tiered wedding cake centered the table.

* * *

THANKSGIVING guests still are in the news this morning—Hear that Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Varney, and Mr. and Mrs. T.T. Varney, Jr., of Broken Bow arrived Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving week-end as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Varney's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Whitten.

* * *

AND from Mt. Prospect, Ill., for the Thanksgiving week-end came Miss Catherine Anne Turner who is the house guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Grant.

* * *

HOME from Brownell Hall, Omaha, for the Thanksgiving recess are Miss Shelley Arnold and Miss Donna Mills.

And expected today from Omaha is a Brownell Hall classmate, Miss Betsy Fraser, who will be the house guest of Miss Arnold.

* * *

A PRE-holiday tradition—the Delta Gamma Pilgrimage—will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 10, according to invitations that will be in the mail this morning. The Pilgrimage, to be held between the hours of 1 o'clock and 5 o'clock, will include the home of Miss Marguerite Klinker—"The Music House;" Mrs. T. J. Farrell, "Christmas Goodies;" Mrs. Edward J. Walt, "The Children's Christmas", and Mrs. Lyle Holland, "The Christmas Tea."

* * *

BACK in town, after several weeks spent in Mexico City, Texas and Arizona, are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams who returned home on Wednesday evening.

Thanksgiving Guests

The three feminine members of the Melvin Thompson family arrived last Tuesday evening with Mr. Thompson from Little Rock, Ark., to spend the long Thanksgiving week-end as the guests of Mr. Thompson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Thompson.

In the picure; Mrs. Thompson, Priscilla Thompson, seated at the piano, and Miss Patricia Thompson, a coed at Washington University, St. Louis.

Candlelight Service

MRS. WAYNE L. GANOW

The chancel of the Federated Church at Aurora was lighted by white candles burning in pedestal candelabra and appointed with tall arrangements of white chrysanthemums and woodwardia on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 28, for the marriage of Miss Celia Madsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Madsen of Aurora, to Wayne L. Ganow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ganow of Ogallala. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Kenneth Locke, minister of the Grand Island Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. William Dorn of Aurora.

Wearing identically-styled sheath frocks of Persian blue velvet fashioned with bateau necklines and abbreviated sleeves were Miss Carolyn Boesiger of Cortland, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Delores Ganow of Ogallala, and Miss Mary Jane Wilhite of Plattsmouth.

Loren Gale of Ogallala served Mr. Ganow as best man, and seating the guests were John A. Coover, Jr., Lincoln; George Andreasen, Fremont; Lowell Spencer, Broken Bow; and Kent Madsen, Aurora.

The bride chose white silk taffeta for her wedding gown, which was designed in the waltz length. Re-embroidered Alencon lace contoured the portrait decolletage of the sculptured silk bodice, and the sleeves tapered to narrow points over the hands. Fashioned on princess lines, the skirt flared into hemline width, and her brief veil of silk illusion was held to the head by a coronet of tulle petals sprinkled with seed pearls.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, the couple left for a short honeymoon trip, later to reside in Lincoln at 3760 F.

The bride is a former student at the University of Nebraska and is a member of the Waverly School faculty. Mr. Ganow is a junior in the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry.

They Chose Thanksgiving Day Ceremonies

MRS. ALAN F. SHIPLEY

Autumn blossoms in varying shades, gold-toned chrysanthemums and lighted candles appointed the chancel of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Dawson for the wedding of Miss Donna Gayle Stake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Stake of Humboldt, and Alan F. Shipley of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Shipley of Falls City, which took place at 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 28. The Rev. W. C. Iliff of Milford, uncle of the bride, solemnized the ceremony assisted by the Rev. O. W. Matzke, and Mrs. Reuben Ulmer, organist, played the wedding music.

Wearing identically styled frocks the attendants were Mrs. Glen Sandoz of Omaha who was the matron of honor and who appeared in gold silk crystalette over bronze taffeta; and bridesmaids Miss Diane Shipley of Falls City, also in gold over bronze; and Miss Marian Trambly of Lincoln, whose costume was fashioned of moss green silk crystalette over green taffeta. The frocks were designed with deep portrait neckline and kimono sleeves in basqued bodices. Narrow velvet ribbon, caught in bows above the hem, outlined the deep inverted pleats of the bouffant skirts. Shoulder-length veils, reflecting the tones of their frocks were held to the head with matching bandeaux of velvet, and each carried a colonial bouquet of autumn flowers. Miss Carol Mueller of Stella, and Miss Shirley Williamson lighted the candles, and the flower girl was Debbie Brecht of Falls City. Steven Morehead of Atchison, Kan., carried the ring.

Nels Kjeldson of Lincoln served Mr. Shipley as best man, and the ushers included Gene Stake, David Weaver, Gary Georgi, Herbert Kuster, all of Lincoln; Ronald Schwartz and Henry Schwartz, both of Falls City.

Antique satin and lace fashioned the gown worn by the bride. The lace, forming a V neckline in front, encircled the shoulders and extended into long sleeves of the Empire satin bodice. The deep folds of the voluminous skirt, patterned with lace and narrow velvet ribbon, swirled into a wide, cathedral train. A contour shell of Chantilly lace, embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, held to the head her veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade bouquet of feathered white carnations.

MRS. LYLE G. WILSON

After the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. Shipley and his bride left for a short honeymoon trip and upon their return they will reside at 4017 G St. For traveling Mrs. Shipley wore a royal blue wool frock, with black and white accessories.

STUTZMAN-WILSON

For the wedding of Miss Verba Mae Stutzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stutzman of Milford, and Lyle G. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Wilson of Goshen, Ind., which took place Thursday evening, Nov. 28, clusters of lighted candles and bouquets of white chrysanthemums decorated the chancel of the Clinton Frame Mennonite Church at Goshen. The 7 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Vernon Bontrager in the presence of 175 guests. Miss Rachel Halaway and Mrs. Donald Farmwald were the vocalists.

The maid of honor was Miss Veradine Wilson, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Pauline Stutzman, in pink, wore similar frocks of taffeta fashioned in the ballerina mode with full overskirts of net. They carried nosegays of pink and green-tinted carnations.

Lamar Lantz served as best man, and seating the guests were Lawrence Stutzman, brother of the bride, Lester Bontrager, Donald Farmwald and Dave Buschert. Mr. Farmwald and Mr. Buschert also lighted the candles.

The bride appeared in a gown of traditional white satin trimmed with imported Chantilly lace. The molded bodice of satin was designed with long, tapered sleeves, and lace was smoothed over the satin to form the modified Sabrina neckline. The narrow waist was emphasized by a petit peplum of the lace below which the satin skirt flared into extreme fullness. She wore a cap of silk tulle, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Clinton Community School in Goshen.

Upon returning from a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside in Lincoln at 1500 West O.

Flower Guild

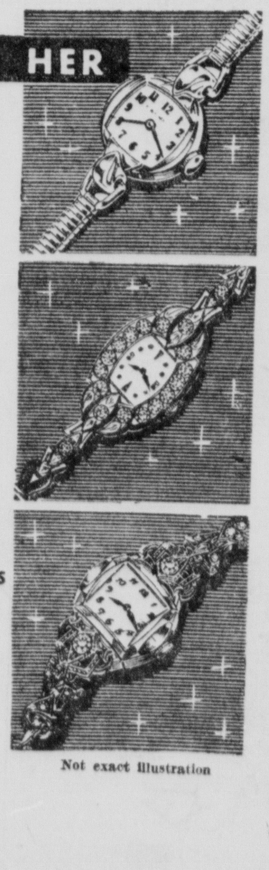

At the meeting of the Lincoln Flower Arrangers Guild, held Tuesday afternoon at the YWCA, the members elected Mrs. Lloyd Chapman president of the group for the coming year. Other new officers are Mrs. Michael F. Edwards, vice president; Mrs. Johnson Beam, secretary; Mrs. Glen Litzenberg, treasurer; and Miss Lila Belle Love, historian.

SUBURBIA

This morning it seems that we have a bit of catching up to do on holiday festivities in South Hills and Kessler Heights while our friends are in a quiet state of relaxation following their mid-afternoon turkey dinners and late evening snacks on Thursday. All in all, it must have been a festive day, indeed, if our news items this Friday ayem are any indication.

SOUTH HILLS

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson, and their children Ruth Ann, David and Martha made an excursion on Thursday morning—so we hear—when they motored to Wayne where they were Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. Thompson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rohrke. And today the Thompson family will go from Wayne to Sioux Falls, S.D., to visit Mrs. Thompson's brothers, Henry Farrand and Floyd Farrand and their families.

Understand that there will be a gala affair this week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Mills in Ft. Dodge, Ia., where Capt. and Mrs. Eldon Mills and son, Hod, will be among the holiday guests. Sixteen family relatives will be on hand for the family reunion dinner.

The Thanksgiving holiday was the incentive for the trip made by Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Cleveland of Omaha to the suburb on Thursday and entertaining them during the festive day were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Johnson.

The football activities of the past week-end attracted a two-some to Lincoln—and South Hills—E. W. Smith and Miss Doris McDermitt, both of Chicago, Ill. Mr. Smith and Miss McDermitt were week-end guests of Mr. Smith's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Smith.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Leaving the Kessler Heights suburb on Wednesday for a week-end vacation were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sorenson whose destination was Nebraska City where they are spending the week-end with Mrs. Sorenson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Clark.

When Mr. and Mrs. Miland Hanquist were host and hostess on Thursday the event was—of course—a Thanksgiving gathering. Their guests for dinner and an informal afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shostrom and their daughter, Karen, and Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Shostrom and sons, Russell and Ronnie.

A Kessler Heights family that drove to Elm Creek for a holiday celebration on Thursday included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cherry and their daughters, Marcie and Brenda. Mrs. Cherry's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Torrey, were host and hostess at the family Thanksgiving dinner, and other guests included Mrs. Cherry's parents, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Elden Saathoff of Sumner, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Henning and their four children of Kearney.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Merry and their youngsters, Ronnie and Dennis for a mid-afternoon dinner on Thursday were Mrs. Merry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Saathoff and her brothers and sisters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Saathoff and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Saathoff.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Packer Aerial Clicks

End Max McGee (85) of the Green Bay Packers is about ready to grab a pass in the flat tossed by quarterback Bart Starr in the second quarter against the Detroit Lions on a field drenched by a steady downpour for the traditional Thanksgiving Day game at Briggs Stadium in Detroit. Lion halfback Yale Lary makes an unsuccessful try to block the pass as he comes in with his arms outstretched. Detroit won, 18-6. (AP Wirephoto).

Johnson Ignites Detroit Comeback

...Lions Shackle Packers For 18-6 Win

DETROIT (AP)—John Henry Johnson's 62-yard touchdown burst on the first play from scrimmage in the second half started the Detroit Lions on a comeback binge that produced an 18-6 National Football League triumph over the Green Bay Packers in their traditional Thanksgiving Day clash.

A crowd of 54,301 sat through a steady drizzle to watch the Lions slosh through the mud for a come-from-behind victory in the nationally televised contest.

As the defense threw back every Green Bay thrust in the second half, the Lions scored in every possible manner in the third period, getting a touchdown, an extra point, a field goal and a safety.

Veteran Jim Martin booted three field goals from distances of 17, 36 and 42 yards as the Lions stayed in the thick of the Western Conference title chase.

Fighting off three fumbles and a pass interception that stifled their early efforts, the Lions overwhelmed the visitors in the second half.

Johnson took a handoff from quarterback Bobby Layne and charged through the mud up the middle for 62 yards and the touchdown that put the Lions in front to stay after only 45 seconds of play in the third period. It was the longest Detroit touchdown run in five seasons.

Despite the heavy drizzle, quarterback Bart Starr used a steady passing attack to guide the Packers into a 6-3 halftime lead. He set up two field goals by Fred Cone, one from the Detroit 14 and the other from the 16. A 31 yard pass to Ron Kramer set up the first one. After Detroit tied it on Martin's 36 yard field goal late in the first period, Starr passed for nearly all the yardage in a 66 yard Packer march culminated by Cone's second goal just before the half ended.

Green Bay	3	3	0	0—6

Green Bay scoring—Field goals, Cone (14, 16).

Sophomores Lead Revived Penn To 3rd Straight, 14-6

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A pair of sophomores, Fred Doelling and Jack Hanlon, picked holes in the Cornell line Thursday to give Penn's reborn Quakers a 14-6 Ivy League Football victory in the 64th meeting of these traditional rivals.

Doelling, a 5-10 halfback from Valparaiso, Ind., put the frosting on Penn's cake biting off short yardage in a drive capped by quarterback Frank Ripel's 8-yard scoring run.

Hanlon, who used to tote the ball at Worcester Academy, Yonkers, N.Y., went the final four yards of Penn's third period 38-yard drive for the first score of the gamt.

Bob McCaniff, a senior from Newburyport, Mass., gave Cornell its only score with a 2-yard run on a play after time actually had run out. Cornell was allowed one more play because of a pass interference penalty against Penn. McCaniff then took it over. Quarterback Tom Skypeck missed the try for the extra point.

It was a push and pull battle most of the way with little hanging in the balance but the economic future of Penn's head coach Steve Sebo and Cornell's Lefty James.

For Penn, the win, third in a row after six straight losses, was the first over Cornell in their annual Turkey Day game since 1952, and probably meant that Sebo will have another chance to put his multiple offense in practice here.

Cornell just couldn't get rolling until the final minutes on this cold, gray day with a crowd of 19,860 almost lost in the reaches of Penn's Franklin Field. Its backfield threats, Tom Brogan and McAniff were bottled up most of the afternoon, while Skypeck was unable to connect on passes with the slippery ball.

Undefeated VMI To Nix Bowl Offers

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Bobby Jordan of Radford, Va., playing against Virginia Tech for the first time since his freshman year, Thursday led Virginia Military Institute to a 14-6 victory, the Southern Conference championship and the Keydet's first undefeated football season in 37 years.

Jordan, who rammed over second and fourth period Keydet touchdowns and added the extra points, was voted the most valuable player on the field by the newsmen covering the "Military classic of the south."

After the game the Virginia Military squad voted to turn down bids to play in the Tangerine and Sun Bowls. The squad voted unanimously in a poll not to go to the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla., Dec. 28 to play Mississippi Southern. It was reported the players voted approximately 2-1 to reject a bid to play in the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Tex., on New Year's Day.

Sam Woolwine, Keydet co-captain, said the lack of a vacation was the deciding factor in rejecting the bowl bids.

Late Miami Drive Beats Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Miami University of Ohio blew a 14-point lead in the last half but then put together a 61-yard scoring drive in the final quarter for a 20-14 victory over the University of Cincinnati in their traditional Thanksgiving Day football game.

Dave Thelen, who scored two of Miami's touchdowns, got the winning marker on a three-yard plunge after he and Hal Williams had done most of the ball carrying from the Cincinnati 39 yard line.

MELBOURNE (AP)—Kel Nagle of Sydney Thursday added a 2 under-par 68 to his course record 67 on opening day and assumed a two-stroke lead at the halfway mark of the $4,460 Lawn Patrol golf tournament.

Nagle was five strokes under par for the two rounds with his 135.

Vaughn, Jones Trade Blows On TV Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Vaughn and Ralph (Tiger) Jones, a couple of willing middleweights on the fringe of the ranking top ten, clash in a Madison Square Garden 10-rounder tonight that should provide a lot of action.

The aggressive 160-pounders sub in the television feature for lightweights Paolo Rosi and Johnny Busso who had their fight postponed for the fourth time. This time it was the infection of Busso's left eye that knocked out the match of ranking lightweights.

Vaughn, of Los Angeles, and Jones, of Yonkers, N.Y., aren't heading for any title fights but that shouldn't deter them from taking healthy pokes at each other. That's the way they fight. Vaughn is the 7-5 favorite.

Vaughn, who will be 25 December 4, has a 33-17-5 record and one no-decision affair with contender Joey Giardello, the latter this year.

Jones, 29, has a 44-19-4 record.

Lackey's Field Goal Produces Upset Win

. . . Crow Not Enough

COLLEGE STATION, Texas. (AP) —Superb kicking by Texas quarterbacks Bobby Lackey and Walter Fondren beat Texas A&M 9-7 Thursday in a tense renewal of an ancient game that knocked the Aggies out of the Southwest Conference race.

A great quick-kick by Fondren set Texas up for a touchdown and a 28-yard field goal by Lackey was the clincher as the Longhorns, arising from football's scrap heap, slashed into second place in the conference race. The Longhorns can win the title if Rice, which leads by half a game, should lose to Baylor Saturday.

Texas, using a trap play that baffled the Aggies most of the afternoon, outplayed A&M thoroughly and richly deserved the victory although A&M furnished the great star of the game—the mighty John Crow—who did everything except beat Texas by himself.

A crowd of 42,000 rocked and swayed with the gripping struggle —the sixty-fourth in the oldest football rivalry in the Southwest— and saw the Aggies able to pierce the Texas 30-yard line only once —then through the individual efforts of the great Crow, who figured in a 57-yard pass play that set up the Aggie touchdown.

The Longhorns scored in the first period as the lanky Lackey, who made all the Texas points, pounded over from the 1-foot line. Then in the third period, Lackey stepped back, and with his buddy, Fondren, holding, planted the ball between the goal posts from the A&M 28-yard stripe.

Texas A&M, once No. 1 in the nation and No. 4 entering Thursday's game, would have lost by a bigger margin had it not been for Crow, who three times prevented Texas touchdowns with his pass defense and was the top ground-gainer of the game. Texas is unranked in the nation's football but should move into the select circle now.

Texas scored in the first nine minutes after Fondren's great quick-kick to the Aggie three. A&M never could get out of the hole and a short punt by Roddy Osborne, Aggie quarterback, against a 12-miles-per hour north wind, gave the Longhorns the ball on the Aggie 32.

Texas rolled to its touchdown under the guidance of Lackey, as coach Darrell Royal substituted his second team when the Longhorns had plowed to the Aggie 18.

Runs by George Blanch, Max Alvis, Don Allen and Rene Ramirez sent the Longhorns goalward with Ramirez and Allen each running for eight to put the ball on the two. Allen drove to the one, Lackey pushed to 1-foot line, then he slammed left guard for the touchdown.

Mickey Smith, Texas halfback, holding for the extra point try, bobbled the ball. Lackey picked it up and tried to run but was downed by a wave of Aggies.

That one point started to loom quite large in the picture although during the entire first half A&M could never get past midfield while Texas pierced the A&M 20 four times. Once the Longhorns rolled to the Aggie seven and twice more they reached the 10 only to lose the ball on fumbles.

The Aggies did better in the second half but never could threaten a score but once. Osborne, seemingly trapped by Robert E. Lee, Texas guard, passed to Crow or the Texas 40. The big halfback slashed to the Texas nine. Crow first lost five but next he powered to the Texas two. After Osborne got a yard, Crow climbed over guard for the touchdown. Loyd Taylor kicked the extra point.

But the game was already lost, because just before that Lackey's passing and quarterbacking had pushed Texas along the way to within field goal kicking distance. So, on the 28 the tall quarterback booted the ball through to ruin Texas A&M's dreams of sharing in the conference championship. Last year A&M was the unbeaten champion.

Brown Rips Colgate In 33-7 Melee

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Brown contained Colgate's vaunted aerial attack and romped to a 33-7 victory Thursday as quarterback Frank Finney tossed for two touchdowns and raced 95 yards with a pass interception in their traditional Thanksgiving Day football windup.

Finney, a slick field general from Royal Oak, Mich., pitched scoring passes to Jon Jensen and Marty Moran and pulled off the game's most spectacular play with his great run late in the second period.

The 19-year-old junior, who hadn't thrown a touchdown pass this season, warmed up after a slow start to lead the Bruins to their sceond straight winning season with a 5-4 record.

Brown bottled up Colgate's passing attack led by quarterback Ray Harding and big end Al Jamison. The alert Bruins intercepted three aerials in the first half while taking a 20-0 lead in the regionally televised clash.

Colgate partially blocked a Brown punt late in the second period and gained possession of the ball on the Bruins' 32. The Red Raiders moved to the eight and Harding pitched to Bob Nastanovich across the goal, but Colgate's backfield was in motion.

Aggies' Paul Bryant May Hear 'Call' From Old Alma Mater

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Coach Paul Bryant of Texas A&M indicated Thursday that he may go to his alma mater, Alabama, as coach.

The man who came here from Kentucky and in four years built A&M into a football power, declared after his team had taken a 9-7 defeat from Texas:

"There is one and only one reason that I would consider it. And that is the fact that some people think they need somebody. Some think I could help. Alabama is my school, and if I was convinced I could help I certainly would consider it."

"When you are out playing as a kid," he continued, "say you heard your mother call out. If you thought she just wanted you to do some chores, you might not want to answer her. But if you thought she needed you, you'd be in a hurry. I feel the same way about this. That's the only reason in the world I'd consider it."

Bryant hastened to say that the losing of Thursday's game had nothing whatever to do with any decision he might make.

Texas A&M was undefeated last year in winning the Southwest Conference championship. This season the Aggies went through eight games without defeat and were rated No. 1 in the nation. But they lost to Rice 7-6 two weeks ago and then to Texas to be eliminated from the conference race.

Bryant has been mentioned frequently in connection with the coaching job vacated at Alabama by J. B. Whitworth. He never has said one way or the other but wrote a letter to the incoming president of Alabama saying he wasn't interested in the job but was recommending Jim Tatum for it.

But the last two weeks Bryant has been silent except to tell the Associated Press once that he wouldn't say definitely he wasn't going to Alabama "because I might go."

Bryant has seven years left on his contract at A&M. He came here in 1954 when the team won one game in 10. In 1955 it lost two and tied one, losing the conference championship when beaten by Texas on Thanksgiving Day. Last year it won nine games and tied one and was the first undefeated team in the conference in eight years.

Long Run Upsets William & Mary

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Halfback Mickey Marinkov for the second time in a row broke away on a long-distance scoring run that gave Richmond's fired-up Spiders a 12-7 upset Southern Conference football victory over William and Mary's Indians.

The speedy 170-pound junior from Lebanon, Pa., raced 71 yards with an Indian kick in the third period for the touchdown that enabled Richmond to withstand a desperation 98-yard W&M march in the final quarter.

Knicks Halt Celtics

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers, cellar dwellers in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn., upset previously undefeated Boston 97-80 Thursday night in the first game of a doubleheader at Convention Hall.

The Celtics had won 14 straight games, one short of the record for the start of the season established by the defunct Washington Capitols in 1948. The Capitols also hold the consecutive game winning streak of 17 made in 1946.

The Knicks, who took the lead at the start and never lost it, were sparked by Willie Naulls, Carl Braun, Kenny Sears and Richie Geurin. They established leads of 23-13 at the quarter and 47-33 at the half.

Braun was high scorer with 21 points. Sears sank 20 and Naulls 18.

The Celtics rallied to trail by only 63-59 with 1 minute 26 seconds left in the third period but the New Yorkers massed a counterattack that carried them into the final period with a 69-50 advantage.

Boston's scoring was led by Bill Sharman, who sank 19, and Bill Russell with 18. Russell also took 28 rebounds.

AAU Convention Opens Study On Many New Rule Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The governing body of the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Thursday began sifting through more than 100 proposals for changes in the conduct of a gamut of sports, from track to skin diving.

A closed meeting of the executive and foreign relations committees, called by AAU President Carl H. Hansen of Oakland, Calif., opened the organization's 70th annual convention.

Sessions continue through Sunday, with committees representing each of the AAU's 19 sports pinpointing subjects for action at simultaneous meetings today.

Among proposals awaiting study are these:

Ban the "Spanish style" javelin throw, a spinning style similar to that employed in the discus, on grounds it creates a hazard.

Limit AAU championships to U.S. citizens, except for track and field, swimming and women's basketball.

Expand the AAU Junior Olympics to include wrestling, boxing and gymnastics.

Permit headgear in boxing and wrestling.

Broaden the meaning of "amateur" in connection with eligibility for AAU competition.

The Central California Assn. has recommended allowing elementary or high school teachers who receive no more than $450 a year for coaching alone to compete as amateurs. The convention also will consider authorizing athletes to take part in training films provided they accept no money and their names are not used for promotional purposes.

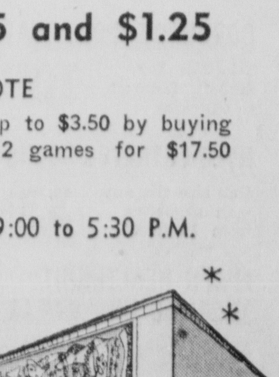

Nearly 400 representatives of 48 AAU district associations and allied groups will pass upon some 250 record claims in track, field, swimming, weightlifting and bobsledding. The convention also will decide the location of championship events next year.

The AAU gathering kicks off a week of sports deliberations in the capital. The U.S. Olympic Assn. meets next Monday and Tuesday.

Mitchell To Draw Highest KU Salary

...Coach Signs For $15,000

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Jack Mitchell, an unsuccesful applicant for the job four years ago, Thursday was named football coach at the University of Kansas with the highest salary in the school's history.

Mitchell will leave the University of Arkansas for his native state at $15,000 a year for five years. Chuck Mather, who quit the Kansas job, was making $11,000.

No one was surprised when Chancellor Franklin D. Murphy announced the appointment. Mitchell was rumored as Mather's replacement before the one-time high school coaching whiz threw in the towel.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't the money that lured Mitchell to KU. He was making $15,000 at Arkansas and his contract had nine years to go.

"My wife, Jeanne, and I were born in Kansas, raised in Kansas and plan to live our lives in Kansas," Mitchell said in a statement. The Mitchells are natives of Arkansas City.

He started playing football while in high school there and quarterbacked the Oklahoma Sooners to Big Eight (then Big Seven) cotitles with Kansas in 1946 and 1947. He was a star in Bud Wilkinson's 1948 championship team that whipped North Carolina in the 1949 Sugar Bowl.

As a coach, he's made good. His first team, at Blackwell, Okla., high school in 1949 had a 9-2 record and won the district championship. Then, after serving as backfield coach at Tulsa University and assistant a Texas Tech, Mitchell became head coach at Wichita U. in 1953. His team posted a 4-4-1 record his first year and the next season won the Missouri Valley Conference title losing only one out of 10 games.

His Arkansas teams have won 17, lost 12 and tied one in the 55-'57 seasons. Their 1957 record is 6-4.

Mitchell will bring his assistants to K.U. as part of the deal. They are George Bernhardt, Dixie White, Steed White, Gene Corroto and Bill Pace. Kansas will retain only one member of Mather's staff—Wayne Replogle, a veteran who has handled the chief scouing duties for the Jayhawks for many years.

Ironically, Mather's last year at KU was his best. The Jayhawks finished second in the Big Eight this season with a 4-2 record (5-4-1 overall). Kansas won its remaining four games after Mather announced his resignation in mid-October.

Arkansas Looks For New Coach

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas, uneasy in its position as a stopover for football coaches headed back home, Thursday actively began its search for a replacement to Jack Mitchell.

Mitchell, Razorback mentor for the past three years, announced that he is returning to his home state as head coach at the University of Kansas.

Dr. John Tyler Caldwell, Arkansas University president, wished Mitchell success and said that Athletic Director John Barnhill would proceed to round up a list of prospects for the Arkansas job.

For Arkansas, the search for a football coach was nothing new—or unexpected.

Arkansas hired Mitchell after Bowden Wyatt returned to his alma mater, the University of Tennessee after the 1954 season.

Caldwell forsaw little difficulty in finding Mitchell's successor. "We are pleased that we have a superb situation to offer a football coach," he said.

Some spadework apparently was done even before Mitchell's announcement Thursday. Tommy Prothro of Oregon State and Jim Myers of Iowa State have acknowledged contacts from Razorback boosters. Only Prothro said he definitely was not interested. Myers merely confirmed the contact.

Other prominent coaches mentioned as possibilities include Wade Walker of Mississippi State, Phil Dickens of Indiana and Murry Warmath of Minnesota.

Jack Keady, Sports Editor of the Arkansas Democrat, wrote Thursday that "a half-dozen coaches have been contacted."

A boom for Little Rock Central high school coach Wilson Matthews is gaining strength among mid-state fans. And there is a swelling outcry among sportswriters and others for a home-state coach, who won't be tempted to leave after a short tenure at Arkansas.

Franz Szuzina, Bremen, Germany middleweight, formerly worked as a carpenter. He now lives at Valley Stream, N.Y.

Northwestern On 1958 Cougar Slate

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Washington State College announced a 10-game 1958 football schedule Thursday including a Sept. 27 date in Evanston, Ill. with Northwestern.

It will be the first meeting between the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference schools. WSC's other non-conference game will be against College of the Pacific at Stockton, Calif. Nov. 15.

The Cougars, with a 6-4 record, had one of their best seasons since the war this year and Athletic Director Stan Bates said attendance was up 68 per cent to 270,902 for the 10 games. The Cougars attracted 160,625 in 10 in 1956.

DAUGHERTY . . . St. Paul ace slated for action tonight.

DU Edges Wyoming By 14-13

DENVER (AP)—Denver and Wyoming traded long-touchdown strikes Thursday in a football spectacular decided in Denver's favor, 14-13, on end Steve Meuris' block of an attempted Wyoming conversion.

Western television fans saw Wyoming sophomore halfback Bob Sawyer score on a 72-yard run and Wyoming senior end Wimp Hewgley take a 70-yard touchdown trip on a pass from quarterback Larry Zowada.

Denver's scoring jaunts came on a 55-yard pass interception by halfback Jim Epperson and a 49-yard pass from quarterback Al Yanowich to halfback George Colbert.

Wyoming got the first touchdown but lost the game deciding point when Meuris broke through and blocked Zowada's conversion.

Denver went ahead 7-6 in the second quarter but trailed 7-13 when Hewgley scored with 5:21 left. Denver fought back and got its victory with 2:31 left to the cheers of a crowd of 16,084.

Wyoming	6	0	0	7—13
Denver	0	7	0	7—14

Wyoming scoring—Touchdowns: Sawyer (72, run); Hewgley (70, pass-run from Zowada). Conversions: Zowada.

Denver scoring—Touchdowns: Epperson (55, pass interception); Colbert (49, pass-run from Yanowich). Conversions: Pagano 2.

Horse Drowns In Racing Mishap

WINDSOR, England (AP)—Dark Spur, a 5-year-old steplechaser, drowned Thursday in the River Thames in the middle of a race.

Dark Spur, a gelding, fell at the fourth obstacle of a hurdles race, lost his jockey, ran off the course and fell into the nearby Thames.

"He had no chance of scrambling out," said trainer Vic Smyth, "I only hope he did not suffer."

Hockey Lead Is At Stake Here Tonight

First place in the U.S. Central Hockey League will be up for grabs on the Pershing Municipal Auditorium ice tonight and Saturday night as the Minneapolis Bungalows and the St. Paul KSTP clubs play a two-game set.

The Bungalows are currently on top in the league standings with a 2-1 record while St. Paul is in second with a 1-0 mark.

The series is slated to be a battle of youth as the Bungalows and KSTP each boast lineups made up of young, hustling players.

Two members of the highest scoring line in college hockey history will team together for KSTP. Johnny Mayasich and Dick Daugherty combined for the record during the 1954-55 season while playing for the University of Minnesota.

Mayasich was named to four consecutive All-American teams while in college and led the U.S. Olympic team in the 1956 Winter Olympics at Cortina, Italy.

Daugherty was named to All-American team in 1953 and 1954 and was on the 1955 All-World team.

The Bungalows are paced by the high-scoring brother combination of Roger and Dave Rovick and defensive specialists Ed Miller and Larry Lawman.

Mal Anderson, Rose Pull Off Tennis Upsets

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Mal Anderson and Mervyn Rose threw the skids under top-ranked Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser, respectively, Thursday in the All-Australian semifinals of the South Australian tennis championships. The upsets sent Australian selectors into a huddle over the makeup of the Davis Cup challenge round team.

Also fearing that the bitter battle for places might cause dissension among squad members, captain Harry Hopman invoked the "gag rule," forbidding players to discuss the situation with the press.

Until Thursday it appeared Cooper and Fraser were cinches to play in the Davis Cup singles at Melbourne Dec. 26-28. But the semifinal results at Memorial Drive courts may have radically changed such reasoning.

Anderson, a gaunt, 22-year-old sheep rancher from Queensland, repeated his sparkling Forest Hills victory over Cooper 10-8, 10-8, 6-3 while the controversial, outspoken Rose cut down Fraser, a fellow lefthander, 8-10, 8-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Warren Spahn Captures Second Cy Young Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Warren Spahn, ace of the world champion Milwaukee Braves and biggest winner in the major leagues last season, was voted the Cy Young Memorial award Thursday as the top pitcher in baseball.

The brilliant southpaw, whose 21 victories were a prime factor in Milwaukee's first National League pennant, received all but one of the votes of the 16-man panel of baseball writers who participated in the annual poll. The other vote went to Dick Donovan, Chicago White Sox righthander.

Spahn, who will be 37 next April, thus becomes the second National League pitcher to win the Cy Young award, instituted last year. Don Newcombe gained the honor in 1956, polling 10 of 16 votes. Spahn had one vote in '56.

By topping 20 victories this season, Spahn joined Hall of Famers Lefty Grove and Eddie Plank, two former American Leaguers, as the only lefthanders to win 20 or more games in eight seasons.

The vote was limited to performance during the regular season without regard to World Series play. This undoubtedly accounts for the failure of Lew Burdette to receive any recognition.

Burdette, pitching hero of the World Series, won three games in as many starts. Spahn, the only holdover from the 1948 Braves' series team, won one and lost one.

A flu attack prevented him from pitching the finale, setting the stage for Burdette's third victory and second successive shutout over the New York Yankees.

Grosscup Sets Mark; Utah Wins Skyline

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah's well-publicized aerial attack played co-star Thursday to ground maneuvers as the Redskins pounded over three touchdowns in the third period, snatched a 21-6 victory from the Utah State Aggies and collected the Skyline Conference crown.

Neither squad could fully halt the other's nationally ranked passer and Redskin quarterback Lee Grosscup set a new national passing percentage record.

Firing aerials through a chilly breeze in the half-filled stadium, Grosscup connected eight times in 13 tries and Utah's 71 yards through the air. That gave him a 68.6 percentage for the 10-game season. Paul Larson of California set the 64.1 record in 1954.

Aggie quarterback Bob Winters hit his man eight times in 19 ries for all of Utah State's 56 yards.

While Aggies were watching Grosscup in the third quarter, the Utes broke fullback Merrill Douglas and halfback Don McGivney loose. McGivney snatched a State pass, took it to the seven and crashed over from there on a line buck. Douglas drove 31 yards for the second TD and then repeated for another touchdown by scampering through the entire Aggies defense for 74 yards. Left end George Boss booted all three extra points.

Utah State's lone score came in the fourth period. Winters tossed to eligible tackle Bill Meglen, who punched his way from the 20 to the seven. Winters handed off to fullback Leo Ducharme, who drove to the three and then over.

Furgol Takes Lead In Golf Tourney

CARACAS (AP)—Marty Furgol of Long Beach, Calif., shot a 4-under-par 67 Thursday to take a one stroke lead after the first round of the Venezuelan Open golf tournament.

Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., and Manolo Bernandez of Venzuela were tied for second. Each fired a 68. In third place with a 69 was George Bayer of New York.

Also among the leaders with 70s were Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, Mike Souchok and Al Besselink, Grossinger, N.Y., Ed Oliver, Seattle, Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill. and Art Wall, Pocono Manor, Pa.

Michigan State halfback Walt Kowalczyk won 13 letters in high school. Four were for football, four for baseball, three for basketball and two for track.

Distance Mark Set

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Robert Schul of Miami University and West Milton, Ohio, Thursday won the 47th annual six-mile Elks Club Thanksgiving Day cross-country run in the record time of 27:33.

The old record was 28:19, set by Jack Blackburn of Columbus, Ohio, three years ago.

Rademacher Will Make Boxing Tour

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Pete Rademacher, Olympic heavyweight champion, will go on a European boxing tour early next year with four other Olympic fighters, an associate announced Thursday.

Mike Jennings, president of Unlimited Enterprises, listed the others as Jim Boyd, Olympic lightweight champion; Harvey Smith, featherweight; Joe Shaw, welterweight; and Jose Larres, middleweight.

Jennings expressed belief the tour would condition Rademacher for another title shot against champion Floyd Patterson, possibly next summer. Patterson knocked out Rademacher in the seventh round last August in Seattle—Rademacher's only professional fight.

The tour was announced for late February and Jennings said "these will be real fights; they are not exhibitions." Fight promoters in London, Paris, Rome and West Germany have been contacted.

Four Veterans Build Central City Hopes

CENTRAL CITY — Four lettermen and several promising newcomers boost the hopes this year of the Central City Bisons for success in the Central Ten conference.

Coach Bill Kennedy's club will be led by 6-2 center Bob Fitzsimmons. Other returning lettermen are Bill Whitson, Ralph Condon, and Marty Miller.

Four 6-0 lads are among the newcomers. They are Eldon Lindquist, Bob Kuhn, Larry Holmes, and Don Nielsen.

The Bisons had a 4-1 record in loop competition last year, and were 11-6 for the year.

The schedule:

Dec. 6—St. Paul; 7—at Columbus; 13—St. Edward; 14—at Ord; 20—at Fullerton; Jan. 3—G. I. Central Catholic; 10—at Seward; 17—at Aurora; 21—Fullerton; 24—Loup City; 29-31—Ord Invitational; Feb. 7—at Minden; 8—Wood River; 14—at Albion; 21—Aurora.

18 Out At Comstock

COMSTOCK — Eighteen candidates are out for basketball at Comstock, with six lettermen heading the list. The club had only a 1-9 record last season.

Coach Ron Hemphill can call on lettermen Charles Clarke, Keith Copp, Dennis Dowse, Douglas Higgins, John Marsh, or Alvin Zikmund.

The schedule:

Dec. 10—Mema; 13—at Scotia; 17—at Ansley; 20—Taylor; Jan. 3—at Arcadia; 7—Sargent; 10—Litchfield; 17—at Arnold; 24—Mason City; 31—at Sargent; Feb. 5-8—Loup Valley at Ord; 10-14—Custer County at Broken Bow.

Nehawka Lacks Height

NEHAWKA — Coach Henry Rosicky's Nehawka Indians will open their basketball season Dec. 6, hosting Syracuse, with five lettermen but lacking height.

Gary Jones, a six-footer, is the tallest man on the squad. Other lettermen are Larry Banks, Bob Garrens, Ronnie Lee, and Ted Snyder.

The schedule:

Dec. 6—Syracuse; 10—Yutan; 13—at Weeping Water; 17—at Elmwood; Jan. 3—Unadilla; 7—St. Bernard's; 10—at Otoe; 14—at Palmyra; 17—Eagle; 24—at Alvo; 28—Avoca; 31—at Murdock; Feb. 4-7—Cass County at Louisville; 11—at Shubert; 14—Dunbar; 21—at Louisville.

Masenbrink Tops Stella

STELLA—Six lettermen, led by John Masenbrink, return this year to pace the Stella Tigers of coach Tom Percell. Masenbrink, a 5-11 forward, averaged 20.5 points per game last year.

Other lettermen back are Don Babcock, Russ Hicks, Jerry Bippes, Gary Workman, and Tom Stevenson.

The schedule:

Dec. 3—Alumni; 6—at Salem Honey Creek; 10—at Shubert; 13—Falls Cty Sacred Heart; 17—at Nemaha; 20—Salem; Jan. 3—at Verdon; 5-6-8—Big Eight at Falls City; 7—at Brock; 10-Bratton Union; 17—Table Rock; 24—at Dawson; 31—Shubert; Feb. 14—at Burchard; 18—Verdon.

Six Back At Elba

ELBA—Six lettermen return to coach Ed Smith from last year's team which rang up a 19-2 record. Several promising newcomers should also aid the club.

The lettermen are Leon Burge, Don Nowak, Norman Pavlik, Arden Porter, John Safarik, and Ronnie Wells.

The schedule:

Dec. 10—at Cairo; 13—Ericson; 17—at Spalding Academy; 19—at Boelus; Jan. 7—at Ashton; 10 -at Farwell; 15-18—Central Loup at Cairo; 21—at North Loup; 31—Spalding; Feb. 4—Palmer; 7—Rockville; 14—Farwell; 18—Dannebrog; 21—Scotia.

Jim Jarrett, North Dakota's left-footed kicker, set a school punting record with a 92-yard punt against South Dakota this season. He's a sophomore.

Southern State Is First Wayne Foe

WAYNE—Wayne State, defending Nebraska College Conference basketball champion, opens its 22-game basketball schedule next Tuesday at Springfield, S.D., against Southern State Teachers.

The Wildcat home opener will be Dec. 13 against Dana College in a NCC game.

George "Moe" Radovich, new head basketball coach, has only two regulars back from last year's championship team.

Two transfers, Bob Moore, Clarkson sophomore, and Virgil Harris, Wyoming Junior College, are expected to bolster veterans King Miner, Sac City, Iowa junior, and Larry Buhl, Newman Grove sophomore, along with a letterman, Gerald Heuser, Quimby, Iowa junior.

Dec. 3—at Southern (S.D.) State; 7—at Augustana; 10—at Westmar; 13—Dana; 16—Kearney; 19—Southern State.

Jan. 10—at Hastings; 11—at Kearney; 14—Wesleyan; 17—at [illegible]; Chadron; 25—at Midland; 28—at Concordia; 31—Peru.

Feb. 1—Hastings; 4—at Wesleyan; 8—Doane; 14—at Peru; 15—at Doane; 22—Midland; 28—at Dana.

Mar. 1—Concordia.

Pairings Made For District Cage Meet

HOLDREGE — A Class A high school district basketball tournament has been scheduled here March 3 through 7, 1958.

No seeded teams were listed, but the slate has these opening contests:

Gothenburg v. Curtis; Kearney v. Cozad; York v. Lexington; Holdrege v. McCook.

St. Mary's Banks On Veteran Coufal

DAVID CITY — Max Coufal, who averaged 18 points a game last season, leads the St. Mary's cage club this year. He's one of three lettermen returning.

The others are Jim Puetz and Gene Riesdorff.

Schedule:

Dec.—3, Bellwood Marietta; 12, Seward Concordia; 17, Fremont St. Pat's; 20, at Mead.

Jan.—2-4, Lincoln Diocesan Tourney at Pius X; 7, Osceola; 11, at Col. St. Bonaventure; 17, Norfolk Sacred Heart; 24, at Omaha Cathedral; 28, Shelby; 31, at Humphrey St. Francis.

Feb.—4-7, Butler County; 13, Rising City; 22, Waverly.

3 Back At Humboldt

HUMBOLDT — Three lettermen are among the cage candidates reporting to coach Darrell Rosenquist at Humboldt High.

Lettermen are Gary Bobbett, Brent Kenny and Tom Widdon. Kenny and Widdon are juniors, Bobbett a senior.

Schedule:

Dec.—3, Dawson; 6, at Tecumseh; 13, Wymore; 17, Syracuse; 19, at Table Rock.

Jan.—7, Pawnee City; 17, Louisville; 21, at Johnson; 24, at Peru Prep; 28, Adams; 31, at Weeping Water.

Silence Is Broken By Ingrid Bergman

SHE SAYS ROSSELLINI IS WONDERFUL PERSON; 'STILL GREAT FRIENDS'

By WALLACE HULLETT

LONDON (INS) — Ingrid Bergman, breaking her silence on the dramatic separation from Roberto Rossellini, said Thursday night "there is no possibility of a reconciliation" with her director husband.

"If it becomes possible," the Swedish-born actress added, "I want a divorce."

Nonetheless, the beautiful, 40-year-old Miss Bergman defended the portly Roberto as she talked with this correspondent in her London hotel.

Sonali

"He's a wonderful person," she said, and insisted there were no hard feelings between her and the Italian film-maker recently linked to the Indian woman, Sonali Das Gupta.

INGRID BERGMAN
. . . holds no bitterness

Gave Up U.S. Career

Ingrid gave up a husband, child and career as Hollywood's top female star when she fell in love with Rossellini and ran off with him eight years ago.

She indicated she was aware of the difficult problems she would have in trying to divorce Rossellini, at least in Italy where the couple was married after the birth of their son.

Ingrid stressed the finality of the separation which was announced on Nov. 7. She leaned forward in the deep arm chair in her quiet room and insisted:

"The action was not just a whim or taken after a little quarrel. We are both adults and gave the decision lengthy consideration and thought it best to settle the matter intelligenly."

Reminded of the news photo showing her hugging the 51-year-old Rossellini when he returned from his visit to India, Ingrid smiled, "I meant it then.

"If he came into this room this moment I would fling my arms around him the same way."

The actress recalled the declaration made at the time of her separation and said:

"We encountered difficulties in continuing our life together. We are both different characters."

Ingrid then made a loyal defense of her husband and insisted that "many people are being unfair to him."

She said this was "probably because some feel more sympathy for me."

"But," the actress declared, "we are still great friends and he is a wonderful person."

Ingrid, who had taken the day off from filming the new comedy, "Indiscreet," said she had spent the day shopping for Christmas gifts for her children who are still in Italy.

Moroccan Ruler Visits First U.S. Settlement

. . . And Begins Cross-Country Tour

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Morocco's King Mohammed V, ruler of one of the world's oldest inhabited countries, Thursday visited the site of the earliest permanent English settlement in the New World.

Mohammed came to Williamsburg after a three-day visit in Washingon where aides reported he was immensely pleased over the results of two lengthy foreign policy talks with Secretary of State Dulles standing in for President Eisenhower.

After a visit to the campus of the College of William and Mary, Mohammed motored to Jamestown for a look at the spot where the first settlers located.

Traditional Dinner

Kenneth Chorley, president of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., and Mrs. Chorley were hosts to Mohammed and his party at a traditional Virginia Thanksgiving dinner.

Mohammed's Washington visit ended at the National Airport Thursday morning where Vice President Nixon, substituting for President Eisenhower, bade the King a warm "goodbye."

A personal note was added when Nixon presented Mohammed with a "Miss America" doll, a gift from Patricia Nixon, 11, to the King's daughter Amina, 3, who is in Rabat.

Beaming, the king told Nixon through an interpreter that his daughter extended "a big kiss" to the vice president's daughter and to all the little girls in the United States.

Mohammed said he was "very happy" at his reception and looked forward to seeing the "civilization and progress" of the American people in his 16-day cross-country tour.

Mrs. Leikam Dies; Lifetime Lincolnite

Mrs. Rose Leikam, 44, of 1125 Claremont, a lifetime resident of Lincoln, died Thursday.

She had been employed at Gold & Co. and was a member of St. John's Evangelical Church.

Surviving are her husband, Jack J.; one son, Jack Dean of Lincoln; six sisters, Mrs. George Schafer, Mrs. John Rosenthal and Mrs. Harry Hergenrader, all of Lincoln, Mrs. Henry Schwindt of Lakewood, Calif., Mrs. Phil Jensen of Sacramento, Calif., and Lydia of Stockton, Calif.; and one brother, Fred Tripple of Lincoln.

ELDERLY MAN'S BODY IS FOUND ON RIVER BANK

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—The body of an unidentified elderly man was found along the shore of the Missouri River inside the Council Bluffs city limits Thursday.

Coroner Henry Meyer said the body was badly decomposed and apparently had been there for some time.

Thomas Meadows of Council Bluffs discovered the body while hunting for rabbits in the area about midway between the Ak-Sar-Ben bridge and the Illinois Central Railroad bridge.

Meyer said there was no evidence of foul play. The man's clothing included a pair of worn overalls.

11 U.S. Actors Principals In Sea Drama

NAHA, Okinawa (Friday) — (INS) — Eleven American actors were disclosed to have become the principals in a chilling real sea story when their 112-foot yacht was trapped between Guam and Okinaway by typhoon Mamie's howling winds.

But the actors, along with a French poodle and a chimpanzee, were safely towed into the Okinawan port of Naha by a British freighter that spotted the yacht's distress signals.

The yacht—aptly named "Thespian"—is on a two-year cruise to film a 39-part television series called "The Sea Fox."

It was en route to Okinawa from Midway when typhoon Mamie snapped its mast and slashed its sails. A crew member, actor Woody Rust, suffered leg lacerations when he fell from the mainmast.

2 Sailors Hurt

Two sailors from the British freighter Cape Howe also were injured while lowering a lifeboat.

All three injured men were taken to the Ryukyus Army Hospital on Okinawa.

Hollywood actor-impresario John Calvert, skipper of the yacht and producer of the TV series, said his team will spend three or four weeks on Okinawa, then head for Tokyo.

Calvert is accompanied by his actress-wife, Ann Cornell; Mrs. Constance Conrad Lowe of Hollywood; John C. Lipham, George B. Thomas, Karl J. Glebum and Charles A. Cook of Honolulu; Harry Litzenberger of Denver, Colo.; Victory Dobler of New York; and Ernie Hauser of Los Angeles.

Four Are Killed In Illinois Crash

CAIRO, Ill. (INS)—Four persons, including an Evanston, Ill., couple were killed Thursday in the collision of two autos on a slippery curve four miles north of Cairo.

The dead were Milton A. Davis, 50, Evanston, a carpenter; his wife, Edna, 50; their passenger, James Heard, 48, of Anna, Ill., and the driver of the other car, Ollie Harris, 45, of Granite City, Ill.

Macmillan Discloses Pledge To Gaillard

Britain Won't Send Tunisia More Arms Without First Consulting France

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan disclosed to Parliament Thursday a British pledge to send no more arms to Tunisia without consulting the French. But he did not rule out more arms for the former French protectorate.

In his first review of the talks in Paris this week with Premier Felix Gaillard of France on the U. S.-British arms shipments that angered France, Macmillan told the House of Commons:

"We confirmed that no further arms would be sent from the United Kingdom to Tunisia without continued consultation with the French government.

"But I did not, because I did not think it right, give any absolute guarantee on our part."

France protested the shipments of small arms to Tunisia, fearing the shipments would reach rebels fighting French rule in neighboring Algeria.

The United States and Britain said they were assured the arms would not reach the Algerians. They said they acted to keep Tunisia from turning to the Soviet bloc for arms.

The British were embarrassed, meanwhile, by a Paris dispatch reporting that two months ago France was asked by Yemen for weapons and turned down the request after consulting London.

A Foreign Office spokesman admitted the report was true— specifically that the French rejected Yemen's bid because the guns and bullets might be used against British forces in the adjacent Aden protectorate.

Private Services For Brindley Baby

Private funeral services for Marky Ray Brindley, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Brindley of 2144 N, will be held Friday at Wayne.

Burial will be at 3 p.m. Friday at the Wayne Cemetery.

The infant died Tuesday.

Surviving are his parents; one sister, Deborah Sue; and grandparents, Mrs. Rose Brindley of Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith of Randolph.

First Study On Anti-Coagulant Drugs For Strokes Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's first co-operative study specifically concerned with evaluating the effectiveness of anti-coagulant drugs in preventing strokes was announced Thursday.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney of the Public Health Service said grants totalling about $58,000 have been made to six medical research centers to start the project.

Burney said the new study is specifically concerned with prevention of cerebral stroke rather than with treatment after onset. It will be a companion to another nationwide project launched last April to collect and evaluate data on the nature and causes of cerebral strokes as well as on treatment methods.

Strokes and cerebral vascular diseases, which rank after heart disease and cancer as killers, take an estimated 172,000 lives annually in this country.

Recovering

Announcement of the study came as President Eisenhower continued his recovery from the mild stroke he suffered last Monday.

After suffering a heart attack at Denver in September 1953, the President was given an anticoagulant drug as part of his treatment. He has been receiving the medication—intended to prevent blood clotting—six out of every seven days. The White House said he is continuing to receive anticoagulants on the same basis as before the onset of his latest illness.

The health service's new study is scheduled to be completed within three years.

Grants

The participating research centers and the amounts of their first year grants are: University of Miami Medical School, Miami, Fla., $17,425; Emory University School of Medicine, Atlanta, $10,580; Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, $5,152; Duke University School of Medicine, Durham, N.C., $7,388; University of Pennsylvania Hospital; Philadelphia, $7,245; and Cornel University Medical School, $10,648.

Additional research centers are expected to join the program.

LT&T Converts Dawson Exchange To Dial System

The Dawson exchange of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., which serves 208 subscribers, including 121 rural customers, was converted to dial operation this week.

Operating capacity of the $51,000 dial installation is double that of the former switchboard, according to Ivan Haith, LT&T manager at Humboldt.

Dawson Mayor Emery Watton placed the first call over the new system to K. L. Lawson, general commercial superintendent of LT&T at Lincoln.

Conversion of the Dawson system means that all telephones operated by T&T in Richardson County now are dial telephones and brings to 94 the number of the firm's 125 exchanges which are dial-operated.

Full selective ringing is provided on rural lines on the Dawson exchange, so subscribers do not hear the rings of other parties on the line.

Operators at Tecumseh will handle long distance and service calls.

POISON CONTROL CENTER OPENS

OMAHA (AP) — Thursday marked the official opening of the new poison control and treatment center at Childrens Memorial Hospital.

The center will be operated 24 hours a day to serve doctors and patients in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, the Dakotas and northern Missouri.

The center, the only such unit between Chicago and Denver, will offer quick treatment for children and adults who eat or drink a poison.

Hospital officials said they had collected accurate records of the chemical content, appropriate antidotes and treatments of thousands of different products.

Elections Set

ASCUNCION, Paraguay (INS)—Paraguay announced that presidential elections will be held on Feb. 9th.

Voters will go to the polls to elect a president, House of Representatives and Electoral Commission.

The current President's term expires Aug. 15, 1958.

Selective Service Aids Scientific Effort—Drath

The Selective Service System is making the only constructive effort to alleviate the science and engineering shortage, according to Francis S. Drath, deputy state Selective Service director.

Emphasis which the law and the Selective Service System place on higher education has channeled young men into areas of learning vital to the national defense effort and to the advancement of science generally, Drath said.

By providing for deferment of almost any young man who shows any degree of merit in pursuing a high school or college education, he said, the System has operated as "a positive force in the expansion of the number of students" entering the scientific field.

Funeral Saturday For Mrs. Duling

Mrs. Duling had been a resident of Nebraska for 17 years, living mainly in the Raymond area. She was a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church in College View.

Surviving are her husband, W. B. Duling; one son, Dr. W. D. Lundquist of Savannah, Ga.; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Handlery and Mrs. Charles Currier, both of Orinda, Calif.; two brothers, Earl Barbee of Victorville, Calif., and Glenn Barbee of Minneapolis; three sisters, Mrs. Edith Buchanan of Lodi, Calif., Mrs. L. M. Overholt of Glendale, Calif., and Mrs. L. W. Graham of Tacoma, Wash, and seven grandchildren.

Anglo-Egyptian Talk Said Critical

ROME (INS) — An Egyptian delegation source said Thursday night Anglo-Egyptian economic negotiations had taken a "critical" turn.

He said that "other obstacles have arisen" other than the eventual release of Egyptian sterling frozen by the British during the Suez Canal crisis.

Britain and Egypt have also been conferring on return of British property seized in Egypt after the canal dispute.

The talks, being held in Rome, twice have been broken off and resumed.

'Never Leave Yule Tree Lighted, Unattended'

Lincoln Fire Chief Paul Feaster urged Lincolnites to use extreme caution with Christmas trees and decorations and "never leave a tree unattended with the lights on."

Chief Feaster also urged operators of public places to call the Fire Department for information on safe practices. He said the Fire Department will inspect any decorations and Christmas displays to determine their safety.

He said trees placed in public places should not be placed where they would cut off easy access to exits.

Even with the utmost precautions at Christmas time, there is still danger of fire, he said.

Before a tree is put up, it should be left outside, he said, and water should be thrown over it occasionally to keep it moist and fresh.

The tree should be kept away from electric trains, television sets and radiators, Feaster said, and Christmas wrappings should be disposed of as soon as presents are opened.

Chief Feaster also urged Lincolnites not to keep the trees up so long that drying will present a more serious hazard.

"Be sure to turn off the lights on Christmas trees when you leave home or go to bed," he warned.

Last year during the four-day Christmas week end 54 persons died in fires throughout the United States and 124 died in other accidents in addition to 705 in auto mishaps.

The Omaha Fire Department has notified more than 1,000 hospitals, schools, theaters and homes for the aged and the young that an old law bans indoor Christmas trees in public places, the Associated Press reported.

The old law prohibits use of Christmas trees either standing or in any form which could be used for festooning or decorations for ceiling or walls. The ordinance bans streamers, cloth, cotton batting, straw, paper, vines, leaves and moss.

KEEPING VOW, MOTHER BEGINS 387-MILE WALK TO MISSION

HITCHCOCK, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon, 46, hugging an imitation leopard jacket around herself, trudged determinedly down the highway Thursday to keep a vow to the Virgin of San Juan.

It was Thanksgiving Day, and she told a reporter: "My boy is free—that is enough turkey for me."

Mrs. Carreon vowed to walk the 387 miles from Galveston to the Mission de San Juan in the lower Rio Grande Valley if her son were freed of a murder charge.

Knife Fight

The son, Alfonso Carreon Jr., 27, was acquitted Wednesday of a charge of murdering Adolph Saldua, 29, in a knife fight at a Texas City, Tex., tavern Dec. 1. Mrs. Carreon started her marathon walk after the jury verdict.

Thursday she was more than 20 miles beyond the starting point of the Galveston County Courthouse.

Temperatures were uncomfortably low for this part of the country and a little rain fell as a reporter located her Thursday. She still was walking, although a nail punctured her foot Wednesday. Her cheeks were red from the cold and she hugged her jacket to her.

Actually,the Carreon family had its Thanksgiving dinner last week. The little mother called in the family for a turkey feast in anticipation of the freeing of her son and that she would be on the road Thursday.

Asked why she made the vow, the personable, friendly Mrs. Carreon replied: "Every mother must make sacrifices for her children."

The freed son was en route to the Mission de San Juan in an automobile. Mrs. Carreon looked for him on the highway, but did not see him. He also plans to give thanks at the mission.

2 Or 3 Weeks

Mrs. Carreon believes it will require 2 or 3 weeks to make the trip.

Wednesday night she slept on the porch of a Negro family's home in Hitchcock. She said they invited her inside, but she insisted she would be comfortable on the porch. She did not know the family's name.

She planned to stop in Alta Loma sometime during the day for a hamburger and coffee. She had 40 cents, 20 more than she started with. Mrs. Carreon said several persons offered her money, but she would accept only five cents from each.

Chile Antarctica Base Destroyed

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile's General O'Higgins Base in Antarctica was destroyed by fire. The personnel escaped.

The base, one of four maintained by Chile, is located on what is called O'Higgins Land, between the 60th and 70th parallels.

Base personnel took refuge at the nearby Dario Risopatron scientific base set up for studies during the International Geophysical Year.

Four Satisfactory After Valparaiso Crash Injuries

Two airmen from Lincoln Air Force Base and two Lincoln women were reported in satisfactory condition at a local hospital Thursday night after being injured in an auto accident near Valparaiso Wednesday night.

A.3c William L. Poe, 19, A.2c Robert L. Garvin, Verlee Ann Bollwit, 21, of 640 So. 12th, and Beverly J. Sloup, 19, of 130 So. 4th were hospitalized.

A.2 c Raymond W. Barrow, 19, was released from the hospital Wednesday after being treated for a facial cut.

Just For Luck

LONDON (AP) — Actor Brian Rawlinson took Hamlet along just for luck last month when he went seeking a film role. Hamlet, a Siamese cat, got a bit part at $56 (equivalent) in the movie being cast and helped tide the jobless actor over his at-liberty period. Now Rawlinson has landed a main role in the film "Dangerous Exile" and is keeping Hamlet well fed for his next turn.

First Exam Jan. 3 For Surveyors Licenses

First licensing examination will be held Jan. 3 under a new law requiring that all Nebraska land surveyors be licensed in order to operate after Januay, 1959.

State Surveyor Hugh Dillon said so far only 14 surveyors have been licensed by the State Board of Examiners for Land Surveyors, headed by State Engineer L. N. Ress.

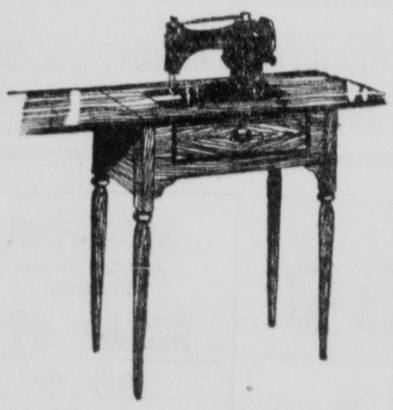

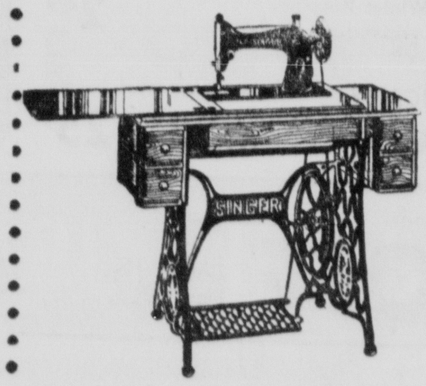

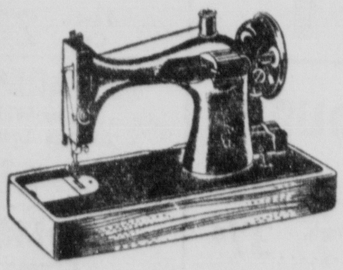

Dillon said the examiners include Louis Weaver, Lancaster County Engineer; Carl Fisher, Lincoln city engineer, and R. E. Kirkham, Omaha consulting engineer.

400 At Union Thanksgiving Rites

More than 400 Lincoln residents who attended two union Thanksgiving Day church services were told of the great material and spiritual lacks of the world's population.

At Christ Methodist Church, the Rev. Thomas C. Dick, president of Lincoln Council of Churches and pastor of First Plymouth Congregational Church, urged the congregation to be thankful for more than the material prosperity they possess.

"The character of a person or a nation is formed by what is considered worthwhile," the Rev. Mr. Dick said. "We must remember that we as Christians received from God a kingdom that cannot be shaken."

'Gift Of Stability'

God's gift is not one of pat answers to the world's problems, the minister stressed, but it is a gift of stability.

"We must remember for what and to whom we are grateful," he concluded, "and that God's gift was given not only to us as Christians, but to all the peoples of the earth."

Others participating in the union Thanksgiving services were the Rev. Richard Lingard of Bryan Memorial Methodist Church, the Rev. Donald Kline, of Antelope Park Church of the Brethren, and the Rev. Lloyd Watt, host pastor. The Lincoln Community Men's Men's Chorus, directed by L. R. Gade, sang. Mrs. Lloyd Watt was organist.

Chaplain Speaks

Maj. Vernon J. Kullowatz, chaplain at the Lincoln Air Force Base, speaking at services held at Northeast Community Congregational Church, talked on the great spiritual and material hunger of the world.

The chaplain emphasized the actual physical needs and hunger still suffered by a large percentage of the world population and countered these needs with the spiritual hunger suffered by many others.

He urged the congregation to meet and solve the problems of the material and spiritual hungers of the world.

Also assisting at the Northeast Community Congregational Church services were the Rev. Milton Laib, host pastor, the Rev. Keith Shepherd of Warren Methodist Church, and the Rev. E. L. Jeambey of Fourth Presbyterian Church.

The First Methodist Church choir, under the direction of Mrs. Adelaide Ports Spurgin, sang.

Might Be Illegal To Fell Satellites

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A University of Southern California professor said Thursday that it might be illegal for the United States to bow to suggestions to "shoot down" Russia's earth satellites.

Carl Q. Christol, a professor of political science, termed the suggestions "wild, crude and barbarous."

Christol said that no one has clear rights or sovereignty in high space. He said the United States would have no right to knock down a satellite or space station passing over the limits of U. S. territory.

Demonstration Doesn't Annoy Sen. Carpenter

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—State Sen. Terry Carpenter said Thursday he was not annoyed by a short demonstration staged in front of his home by about 25 Scottsbluff High School students, mostly girls, the previous night.

The students said the demonstration resulted from Carpenter's opposition to a proposed $2,500,000 school bond issue which was defeated in a Tuesday election.

Police broke it up after a neighbor called headquarters.

Dag's Visit To Mideast Is Definite

. . . Begins Friday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold announced Thursday he will definitely visit Amman, Jerusalem and Damascus on his new Middle East peace mission. An aide said Cairo also was expected to be on his list.

Hammarskjold, who takes off by plane Friday, conferred with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi, who arrived from Cairo earlier in the day.

The secretary general is making the trip in an effort to ease new Arab-Israeli tensions.

His decision to visit also in Damascus raises the prospect that his talks could take in more than just Israeli-Arab relations.

Syria has been involved in the recent border disputes with Israel, but has also expressed new concern over Turkish troop concentrations on the Syrian-Turkish border.

But U.N. officials have stressed that Hammarskjold has no intention now of visiting the Turkish capital.

Principal purpose of the Amman visit is to discuss with Jordan officials their charge that U.S. Marine Col. Byron Leary, acting head of the U.N. truce supervisory organization, had been biased in his handling of a Jordan-Israeli convoy incident.

Market Holiday

Financial and commodity markets over the nation were idle Thursday in observance of the Thanksgiving Day holiday.

Japs Assured No A-Bombs On American Planes

TOKYO (Friday) (INS) — The Kyodo news service said it has been assured by American military officials that U.S. planes operating from Japanese bases are not carrying nuclear bombs.

The Japanese news agency said it had been prompted by London dispatches to put the question to American authorities. The dispatches quoted Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd as saying he believed U.S. planes based in Britain were carrying nuclear weapons on routine patrol flights.

Kyodo quoted the U.S. military officials in Japan as stating that American planes at Japanese bases were not armed with nuclear weapons in observance of an "established policy" agreed upon between the U.S. and Japan.

Japanese Foreign Office authorities pointed out that an agreement would have to be concluded between the two nations before the U.S. could introduce any nuclear weapons into Japan.

Spanish Attack Is Charged

. . . BY MOROCCO

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Crown Prince Moulay Hassan Thursday charged Spanish forces with attacking Moroccan territory from the hot hills of the rebellious colony of Ifni and ordered the Royal Army to shoot back.

His announcement said two women had been killed by shells fired by Spanish troops. He declared the Army he commands as chief of staff "is ready to defend its territory against anyone."

He indicated Morocco intends to put up a struggle for the oil and mineral riches of South Morocco, still a Spanish protectorate. He called this territory south of Ifni "our door opened on the Sahara."

Rebellions Since May

Ifni, a tiny seaside colony on the western hump of Africa, has been rent by sporadic rebellion since May. Moroccan Nationalists reported it has been the scene of bloody fighting between rebel Ifnians and the Spanish garrison since last Saturday. Nationalists have claimed the capture of about half a dozen villages and military posts.

Spanish authorities accused the irregular Moroccan Liberation Army in the area of staging raids on Ifni and have rushed shiploads of troops, bombing planes and paratroopers to the scene.

The newspaper of the Moroccan Istiqlal (Independence) Party said these forces had launched an all-out counteroffensive to recapture lost Ifni outposts. It charged Spain's bombers were attacking Moroccan villages.

4 Of NU Faculty To Give Papers At Ag Meeting

Four University of Nebraska faculty members will present papers at the American Society of Animal Production meeting Nov. 29 and 30 in Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Raymond L. Arthaud, research associate in animal husbandry, will report on work done with dwarfism; Dr. Lavon J. Sumption, assistant professor of animal husbandry, will talk on early development of the Minnesota No. 3 line of swine; Dr. Johnny Matsushima, associate professor of animal husbandry, will report on protein levels for fattening cattle; H. P. Davis, professor emeritus of dairy husbandry, will talk on studies conducted on the age of dairy cattle.

Other animal husbandry faculty members who will attend the annual meeting include: Department Chairman W. J. Loeffel, Vincent Arthaud, Dr. D. B. Hudman, Dr. E. R. Peo Jr., Dr. Paul Q. Guyer; M. A. Alexander, Eugene Rupnow, Dr. M. L. Baker, Dr. R. M. Koch, Dr. Keith Gregory and Richard Warren.

Dr. N. Rasmussen, Scottsbluff, Dies

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—Dr. Nelson H. Rasmussen, 76, Scottsbluff physician and surgeon, died late Wednesday night. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Andrews Episcopal Church.

Survivors include a son, Dr. John A., of Omaha and a daughter, Mrs. Richard Frisk of Longmont, Colo.

Dr. Rasmussen was 1915 graduate of Creighton University and before entering the medical profession worked as a blacksmith, farmed, prospected in Alaska and was a railroad fireman.

He was a former member of the Scottsbluff City Council and served one term as council president.

Plans Mapped For Annual Polio Drive

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb. — "Dramatic new advances in the field of rehabilitation of polio victims now makes it possible for persons, formerly destined to spend their lives in a wheel chair or an iron lung, to return to useful daily living," Ted Hughes, Seward, state chairman of the March of Dimes drive, told drive leaders from four counties here.

TOP 3 REDS WISH IKE FAST RECOVERY

LONDON (AP)—The three top men in the Kremlin have sent telegrams to President Eisenhower expressing distress over his illness and hopes for a speedy recovery, Moscow Radio said Thursday night.

The cables were sent by Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev, President Klementi Voroshilov and Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Khrushchev's telegram said: "Esteemed Mr. President: I am deeply distressed at the report of your illness. I am sending you heartfelt wishes for a speedy recovery."

Voroshilov wrote: "Esteemed Mr. President: I have learned about your illness with feelings of deep regret. I wish you a speedy recovery with all my heart."

Bulganin's cable: "Esteemed Mr. President: I have learned about your illness with distress. I wish you sincerely a speedy recovery."

Sir Walter Act Is Reversed By University Co-Ed

BANGOR, Wales (INS) — A 20-year-old co-ed did the "Sir Walter Raleigh Act" in reverse Thursday when Prince Philip visited the University of North Wales, in Bangor.

As Queen Elizabeth I is said to have done, Philip found a pool of water in his path. Ann Clwyd-Lewish rushed forward and placed her coat over the puddle.

The Duke smiled, "I would not dare" and sidestepped the drenched drenched coat.

Reds 'Took' Scientists —General

NEW YORK (INS)—Army Brig. Gen. Frank Howley (ret.) said Thursday night that the Soviet Union, in many cases, forcibly took German scientists and technicians into Russia after World War II.

The Army general, who was commander of West Berlin during the famed airlift and is now vice chancellor of New York University, said the Russians also enticed many scientists with promises of high pay.

The U.S., he said, brought only a select group of scientists to America under their own volition. These men were screened for past affiliation to the Nazi paaty.

He declared:

"The Soviets were under no such self-imposed handicap. Regardless of a scientist's previous political activity, he was either enticed to the Soviet Union by attractive financial awards and promises, including forgiveness of his past political activities, or he was in many cases, taken against his will forcibly to the Soviet Union."

Speed Stressed

Howley, in a statement which is to be read into the record Friday in Philadelphia where the Senate Internal Security subcommittee is holding hearings, said:

"I would like to stress particularly the speed with which scientists were seized at Peenemuende on the Baltic. This . . . was the center of scientific research particularly in guided missiles and related areas.

"We of the West never saw any of those scientists. They were overrun by Russian troops, seized immediately and sent off to work on things which undoubtedly contributed to the present Sputniks and advances of the Soviet Union."

The general said that the Soviets extended their plunder of skilled minds down into electrical workers in the factory, foremen and supervisors.

Contributions may be made to the St. Paul Methodist Church fund.

Mountain Timber Blaze Controlled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Exactly a week after it started the big brush and timber fire in the San Gabriel mountains was brought under control Thursday.

After flaring up during a windstorm last Thursday, the fire destroyed 25,000 acres of watershed and burned to within four miles of foothill communities 20 miles from Los Angeles.

Turkey dinners were served to 1,000 men on the fire lines during the day, some of the meals being flown by helicopter to crews on remote ridges.

Macmillan Reassures Laborites

'Nuclear Weapons Bring No Danger'

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said Thursday U.S. authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent a nuclear blast in the crash of any crippled U.S. Air Force bombers in Britain.

He told the House of Commons the nuclear weapons carried in U.S. planes flying from British bases are not armed. The weapons are in separate components that do not become alive until the plane crews take action to unite the parts.

Macmillan said a nuclear-armed U.S. bomber doubtful of making a safe landing in Britain can be refueled in the air to fly back to its own base in the United States.

Laborites Concerned

For the second day running members of the opposition Labor Party expressed concern because U.S. aircraft flying patrol missions from Britain were carrying nuclear weapons.

Macmillan, in answer to a flurry of questions, said: "In training and in patrolling, weapons must be carried, partly for the use of training in loading, which is part of the training. But they are carried in a form technically called 'not armed.'

Remarque's Plan For Marriage To Actress Canceled

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (INS) —A Swiss hotel spokesman said all arrangements were unexpectedly called off Thursday for the scheduled February marriage of actress Paulette Goddard and German novelist Erich Maria Remarque. They have been engaged five years.

Spokesman for the palace hotel in St. Moritz where the couple had scheduled their wedding celebration said the hotel was "just advised by Remarque that all arrangements are off."

"No alternate plans were mentioned," the spokesman said.

(Reached in New York, the German writer refused to confirm or deny the report his marriage had been canceled. "I don't want to talk," he said. "There's nothing to be canceled.")

A friend of the writer said that when Remarque flew to the U.S. 10 days ago "it was still on." "Maybe," he said, "it's just a temporary delay as both are busy with work."

But Remarque's housekeeper at his lakeside retreat at Ascona said the writer "won't be back until late spring."

Prayer Offered For Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following is the text of a special prayer for President Eisenhower, offered by the President's pastor, the Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson in the Thanksgiving service at which the chief executive put in a surprise appearance:

"Almighty God, Lord of creation and ruler over all the earth, we thank Thee for Thy providence whereby Thy servant Dwight David Eisenhower has been called to serve this nation and the world.

"We thank Thee for his dedicated talents of mind and heart, for his sacrificial service and steadfast devotion.

"Grant him this day the assurance of gratitude and affection from the people of this land.

"Be Thou the supreme reality of his family circle. Renew within him the gifts of patience and courage.

"Surround him with healing ministries that in completeness of health and strength he may fulfill his high calling in the service of mankind through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

CORNING, Ark. (AP)—Six Maywood, Ill., persons were killed instantly Thursday when their car and a transport truck collided head-on on U.S. Highway 67 seven miles west of this northeast Arkansas community.

State police identified the victims as Frank J. Joshway, 23; Ellouise Spitts, 19; Huey Banks, 28; Earline Hall, 27, and her two children, Helen Hall, 10, and Ernestine Hall, 9.

State trooper Rue Luther said the accident occurred when Joshway, the driver of the Illinois car, pulled out to pass a slow-moving line of traffic. He said the car collided with a truck driven by Edward Nusboum, 23, of Elkhart, Ind. Nusboum was not seriously injured.

Boy Decides No Operation, Leaves Table

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Eleven-year-old Robert Osowski knew what was coming. So he crawled off the operating table and walked out of the hospital while left alone for a moment.

Early Thursday, 15 hours later, he reappeared at his home, cold and hungry after a search by planes, Army helicopters and ground parties failed to turn him up.

The boy, son of T. Sgt. Edward A. Osowski, had been taken to the McConnell Air Force Base Hospital for removal of a small node under his arm, a minor skin operation.

He Knew

"I can't really blame the boy," his father said. "He'd had a similar operation earlier and knew what to expect." Osowski was in a waiting room when his son slipped out of the hospital.

Robert confided that he hid in a hayloft after walking several miles. He watched the helicopters as they looked for him.

Later, he walked home and hid in the basement while his parents waited up for him upstairs. "I just wanted to warm my hands and feet," he said, "but I started to fall asleep." When he awoke, he went upstairs and surprised his frantic parents.

"I was so thankful to see him I couldn't even get mad," his father said.

Japs May Want To Try GI In Slaying

YOKOHAMA (Friday)—(INS)—A possible jurisdictional question arose in the murder of a young Japanese woman by a 23-year-old Detroit soldier.

Japanese prosecutors may claim the right to bring Gregory J. Kupski Jr., to trial. If they do not make the claim, the U.S. Army will have undisputed jurisdiction over Kupski, who has confessed the strangulation slaying to Army authorities.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Army said it had not yet received naval confirmation of the fact that a murdered young Japanese woman was the wife of a Navy enlisted man.

Mrs. Westcott

The Army said it must therefore continue to identify the murder victim by her Japanese name of Kazue Eikawa instead of her married name of Mrs. Robert Westcott. Her husband is a Navy aviation mechanic first class, Robert Westcott of Vineland, N. J., presently stationed at the China Lake naval facility in California.

The 25-year-old woman was strangled and her nude body left in a Yokohama alley early last Sunday.

Both the U.S. Army and the Yokohama police have charged Kupski with the murder.

The Army brought a formal charge against Kupski while the Yokohama authorities filed their complaint last Monday with the District Prosecutor's Office, requesting an indictment of the American soldier.

Chile Breaks Off Envoy Relations With Venezuela

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile broke off diplomatic relations with Venezuela Thursday because of the arrest and expulsion of an attache at the Chilean Embassy in Caracas.

The attache, Jorge Basulto, was detained last week and accused by Venezuela of political agitation against the Caracas government. Basulto returned to Santiago Wednesday. He said he had been held incommunicado four days.

The Chilean note breaking relations was delivered to Ambassador Esteva Rios at the Venezuela Embassy. He said he will leave for Caracas Saturday but that consulates in both countries, which have small commercial links, will be kept open.

GOLD'S of Nebraska

Lincoln's Busy Department Store

Santa will be in GOLD'S TOYTOWN STARTING FRIDAY

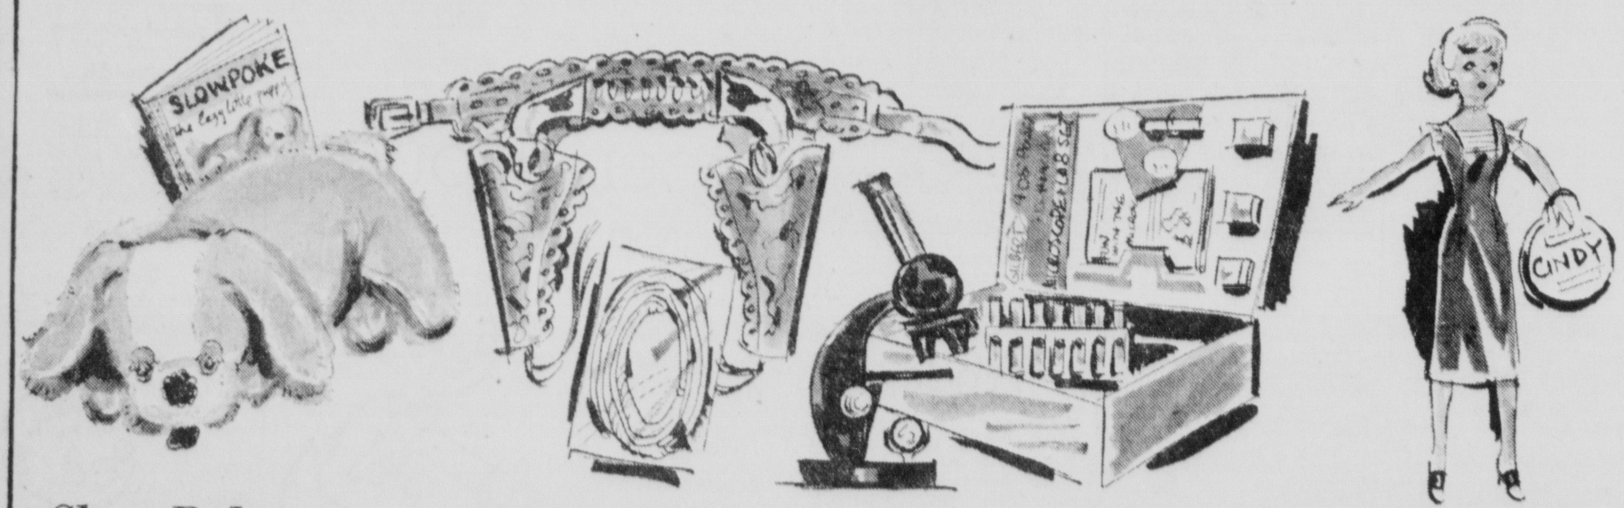

Bring the kiddies to see and talk to Santa . . . Free Santa Balloons!

While awaiting Santa's arrival at the depot Jolly Jingles (Santa's helper) will give out candy to all the kiddies. The Coachmen's Quartette will sing Christmas Carols. Upon Santa's arrival he will be interviewed by KOLN-TV and movies will be taken. He will then be whisked by convertible to GOLD'S "O" Street entrance where a red carpet will be rolled out to welcome him.

★ FREE CANDY!

★ CAROL SINGERS!

Starting Friday at 10 a.m. — and until Christmas Eve, Santa will make his headquarters in GOLD'S Toytown . . . Fourth Floor.
